

Figures

---

2.1	Simon's ant	23
2.2	Bounded rationality can be recast in a new paradigm	26
3.1	Oliver's classification of public policies	35
5.1	US 1 year and 1Y1Y forward interest rates	60
5.2	Average price paths for each treatment group across 11 periods	64
5A.1	Spread between ten-year US treasury bonds and ten-year bonds of US AAA financial companies	68
5A.2	Expected default frequency of banks	69
6.1	Comparison between S&P index values between 1871 to 1979 and the fundamental values calculated ex post of the companies making up the index	77
11.1	Hit rates obtained with a 90 percent confidence interval by Stephan (1998) with a group of experienced currency traders	137
11.2	Predictions £/$ exchange rate by 40 professional foreign exchange forecasters between 1981 and 1996	138
11.3	The evolution of US house price indices from 2000 to 2012	141
11.4	Home divestitures and purchases by US securitization professionals, equity analysts and lawyers between 2000 and 2010	147
11.5	Diagrammatic model of the relation between affective processing and perceived risks and benefits of nuclear power	150
11.6	Causal models of contagion for the Mexican swine flu and financial subprime crises of 2007	154
12.1	Financial knowledge, attitudes and behavior	160
12.2	Overconfidence and risk to consumers	162
12.3	OECD-PISA: financial literacy of 15-year-old students	163
13.1	The Italian innovation anomaly	173
17.1	The structural model of trust tested through a questionnaire to financial advisors	211
19.1	Italian households' financial portfolio	226
19.2	Behavioral chart	231
19.3	Advisory models evolution: target market, investor behavior analysis and asset allocation	234