

Contributors

Helena Ekelund is Senior Lecturer of Political Science at Linnaeus University, Sweden. Her research focuses on the EU agencies, migration and border policies and human rights.

Anne Haglund-Morrissey is Associate Professor and works as Senior Policy Officer at the DG Research and Innovation at the European Commission, Belgium. Her research involves EU research and innovation policy and EU international and development cooperation.

Charlie Karlsson is Professor Emeritus of Economics at Jönköping International Business School, Sweden. He has focused on infrastructure, urban, regional and small business economics, spatial industrial dynamics and entrepreneurship.

Martin Nilsson is Senior Lecturer of Political Science at Linnaeus University, Sweden. His research focuses on European environmental and climate change politics, the European Union and prerequisites to sustainable democracy.

Mats Öhlén is Senior Lecturer of Political Science at Dalarna University, Sweden. His research includes EU institutions, transnational European parties and Swedish party politics.

Anna Parkhouse is Senior Lecturer of Political Science at Dalarna University, Sweden. Her research interests include the European Union as regional and global actor, the impact of the EU membership incentive on rule adoption in minority rights legislation and European policies on asylum-seekers and refugees.

Brigitte Pircher is Senior Lecturer in the Department of Political Science at Linnaeus University, Sweden and Lecturer at the University of Vienna, Austria. Her research includes European integration, EU institutions, EU decision-making processes, and EU law and its implementation in the member states.

Charlotte Silander is Senior Lecturer of Political Science at Linnaeus University, Sweden. She works at the Department of Didactics and Teachers

Practice. Her research focuses on higher education and the European Union, including gender issues and research policy.

Daniel Silander is Associate Professor of Political Science at Linnaeus University, Sweden. His main areas of interest are political entrepreneurship on a domestic and international level, international politics, democracy and state and human security.

Sam Tavassoli is post-doctoral researcher at the CIRCLE, Lund University, Sweden and Assistant Professor at Royal Melbourne Institute of Technology in Melbourne, Australia. His research focuses on economics of innovations, technological change, entrepreneurship and the evolution of industries.