

Index

---

- ABC model 200
  - active discussion, encouragement of 20–23, 23–4
  - active learning 177, 191, 222, 239
  - ADDIE model of instructional design 197, 200, 205
  - additional teaching or moderator support 214–15, 216
  - Adobe's State of Create 2016 study 59
  - affective learning 111, 115, 117
  - Allen, W.C. 204
  - appointments 17, 77, 79–80, 320
  - Apprentice Challenge 145
  - apprenticeships 3, 5, 9, 110
  - assertiveness techniques 173–4
  - assessment criteria 280–88
    - ambiguity and inconsistency 280
    - anonymised essays from previous year reviewed and graded by students 284, 285
    - Assessment Workshop 283–4, 285, 286
    - audio-visual teaching aids 287
    - creativity 288
    - cynicism and antagonism 281
    - discontent and failure, feelings of 280
    - expectations 281
    - explanation of key components 280, 282, 285
    - feedback 280, 282, 288
    - group work 287
    - impartiality and objectivity 281
    - implications 285
    - interactive style 288
    - key terms, highlighted and interpretation of terms 283–4
    - meaningful understanding 281
    - presentation 287
    - problem 281–3
    - solution 283–4
    - support 280
  - assessments
    - experiential learning and business simulations 116
    - law: teaching to business students 269–70
    - quality 40
    - storytelling as teaching technique 105
    - see also* assessment criteria; effective feedback of lecturer; multiple choice questions (MCQs); peer assessments; formative assessments; posters in academic assessments; summative assessments
  - attendance and engagement 10, 36–44
  - assessment method 38–9
  - breadth of understanding 40
  - breaking down of active learning
    - community for module 39
  - formal and informal feedback 38, 40
  - group presentations 70
  - implications 40–41
  - innovative methods 37
  - large group teaching 95
  - lectures 36, 37, 38, 39, 41
  - loss of opportunity for incremental development 38
  - online presence 41
  - problem 37–9
  - quality of assessments 40
  - solution 39–40
  - tutorial reports 40–41
  - tutorials 36, 37, 38, 39, 41, 42
- attention-seeking technique 172–3
  - audio-visual teaching aids 287

- Beghetto, R.A. 60–61
 behavioural (psychomotor) learning
   3–6, 111, 117
 ‘bigger picture’ 45–6, 136–7 blended learning 202, 213–14, 217, 219
 blog posts 41, 255
 Bloom’s Taxonomy of learning 8, 9,
   10, 110, 117, 296, 297, 314
 Borthwick, B. 123–4
 Boud, D. 297
 Box of Broadcasts 91
 break-out rooms/break-out sessions
   212, 213, 215, 216, 219 breaks 17, 94–5, 128, 195–6, 243
 Brisco, T. 3
- Cartwright, E. 239
 circulating the room 22 class list with student photographs as memory aid 28 classical conditioning 4 cognitive learning 8, 111, 115, 117, 222 collaborative learning 10, 182
   digital literacy 192 experiential learning and business simulations 111–12, 113, 114, 117–18
   online learning management 223, 225–6
   virtual classrooms 221
 colour coding system for notes 16 competence and confidence 49, 54 conditioned stimulus 4 constructivist learning 5–6, 222, 223 context-centred learning 5, 7 cooperation 111, 113, 223, 232
   see also collaborative learning corporate social responsibility (CSR) embedded in teaching 249–58 accountability 251, 256 business ethics 252, 254, 258 concerns for CSR 254 definitions 249–50
   delivery style 252 designated reading and discussion points 256 developments 252 differing perceptions 250 environmental impacts 250 environmental and social accountability 251
   essential activities study path 255, 256, 257 face-to-face lectures 256 frameworks 252, 255–6 indicative content 252, 254, 256, 258 intellectual skills 251 internal process 252 introduction to CSR 254 investigating dynamics of CSR 254 learning objective 254 limitations and how frameworks operate 256 navigation exercise 255, 256 planned engagement activities 254, 256 professional skills 251 sustainability 257 theories 252
   topics aligned to learning objectives 252 transferable skills 251 understanding CSR 252, 253–5 video mini-lecture 256
- creativity 57–64, 186
 assessment criteria 288 assignment and assessment approach 63 convergent and divergent ways of thinking 62
 definition 60–61
 digital literacy 186, 192, 193 engagement with messy/complex and unpredictable situations 62 explicit reference to and institutionally agreed definition 63 graduate attribute 57 guideline 63
 harnessing and fostering of 62–3 HEAR (Higher Education Achievement Record) 64 integration of into classroom 61–2, 64 memory, effective use of 62 motivation and passion 58, 60 positive attitudes 60 public good 57, 59 regulatory inhibitors 63

- removal of barriers 63–4
- retaking or resubmitting portions of work 63
- risk taking in safe environments 62
- second generation creativity 59
- self-efficacy 62
- skills 57, 58, 59, 61, 64
- social good 57, 59
- visualisation of ideas 62
- VUCA (volatility, uncertainty, complexity and ambiguity) 58–9
- working group or special interest group (SIG) 61
- critical thinking 45–56, 104, 215
  - arguing a case and reinforcing it with evidence 52–3
  - attitudes 48–9
  - ‘big picture’ 45–6
  - breadth of 50
  - calculation of various scenarios, implications and potential consequences 53
  - competence and confidence 49, 54
  - conscious approach 48
  - coordinating, scheduling and communicating 50
  - decision-making and solving problems 53
  - definition 46–8
  - digital literacy 192, 193
  - effectiveness 45, 53
  - emotions management 48
  - goal-directed approach 47
  - identification of inconsistencies in data and arguments 51–2
  - language of reasoning 52–3
  - looking at issues from various perspectives 51
  - mind maps 51
  - newspaper articles or editorials 51
  - overt engagement 49–50
  - pattern recognition 51
  - peer-assessment process 52–3
  - probability of desired outcome 46–7
  - purposeful, reasoned and goal directed thinking 46, 47–8
  - questioning 47
  - reasoning 48, 52, 53
  - reflective practice 48, 52
  - relevance of teaching for business students 132
  - self-assessment 52
  - self-knowledge 48
  - self-managed work e.g. dissertation 53
  - specific training 49
  - storytelling as teaching technique 99
  - understanding connections between ideas 51
  - value of in workplace 46–8
  - ‘what if?’ questions 46, 53
- cultural factors see international students, language difficulties and cultural factors
- curriculum design 8–10
- Dickie, M. 239
- digital literacy 186–96
  - active learning 191
  - analytical thinking 193
  - collaborative learning 192
  - communication 194
  - confidence-building and self-organisation 186
  - creative thinking 186, 192, 193
  - critical thinking 192, 193
  - decision making 193
  - design thinking 187–92
  - discover 188
  - dissemination 194
  - engagement levels 191–2
  - envisioning 188, 189–90, 191, 193
  - evaluate 188
  - experimenting 193
  - familiar contexts for abstract concepts 190
  - feedback 193, 194
  - framing 187, 188, 189, 193
  - gap periods 195–6
  - generating, representing and testing viable solutions 192
  - goal setting 193
  - group working 190
  - imagine 188
  - implement 188
  - informal discussion 196
  - iterating 188, 190–91, 192, 193
  - logical thinking 186

- metacognition 191
- observation 193
- pair-programming approach 192, 194
- peer group 193
- problem solving 187, 189, 192, 193
- process diagram 193
- realising 188, 191, 194
- reflective thinking 193
- represent 188
- small groups 193
- synthesise 188
- technical skills 194
- thinking before doing 193
- understanding the context 192
- what could be? 188
- what is? 188
- what should be? 188, 191
- what will be? 188
- digital pen for highlighting and annotation 15–16, 17, 18, 19, 23
- directed learning 219
- discussion boards 198, 254
- Dropbox 292

- economics-games.com website 234–5
- effective feedback of lecturer 313–23
  - activities to improve impact of feedback 320
  - advice on closing any gaps 320
  - annotation in appropriate location 314
  - anonymised samples of work from previous years 317–18
  - assessment criteria/learning outcomes, reference to 316, 317–18
  - audio feedback 324
  - clarifying size of any gaps 318–19
  - demand-led feedback 322
  - exemplars 318–19, 324
  - framework 316–17
  - Grade Mark in Turnitin 324
  - highlighting/underlining relevant sentences 314
  - in-class marking activity 317
  - language difficulties 314
  - location of comments 314–15
  - peer review 320, 322–4
  - post-submission exemplars 318–19
  - releasing feedback before delivering marks 321–2
  - relevance of comments for future work 319–20
  - shared understanding, development of before final submission 317–18
  - speedy provision of feedback 321
  - strengths and weaknesses, balance between 315–16
  - sub-criteria 317
  - tone and phrasing 316
  - written feedback improvement 313
- eLearning design models 200
- Emerson, T. 239
- Enabling Team 53
- engagement levels 14–24, 100
  - active discussion, encouragement of 20–23
  - atmosphere generated by teachers 20
  - breaks 17
  - circulating the room 22
  - colour coding system for notes 16
  - with core reading and course reading 72
  - corporate social responsibility (CSR) embedded in teaching 254
  - definition 14
  - digital literacy 191–2
  - digital pen for highlighting and annotation 15–16, 17, 18, 19, 23
  - discussion points, return to and summary of 22, 23
  - expectation building 21, 22
  - experiential learning and business simulations 109–10, 113
  - experiential learning cycle (Kolb) 20, 21
  - five-step critical discussion process 21–3
  - games 232
  - hierarchy of engagement 27
  - humour 20
  - icebreakers 27–8
  - note-taking 15, 16, 18
  - online learning management 228
  - online module: designing and teaching 198

- overt engagement 49–50
- participation, importance of 20–21
- plenary commencement 22, 23
- presentation skills 15–20
- questions 16–17
- relevance of teaching for business students 134
- retention of engagement whilst
  - giving presentation 15–20
  - interactive/note taking 19
  - pace of delivery 19
  - walkthrough examples 19–20
- talk through presentation 23
- task setting 22
- technology-enhanced learning
  - activities and participation 182
- virtual classrooms 214, 215, 217
- writing 84
- see also* attendance and engagement; creativity; critical thinking; group presentations; icebreakers; writing
- English, L. 239
- English as a second language see
  - international students, language difficulties and cultural factors
- enhancement of teaching see
  - experiential learning; international students, language difficulties and cultural factors; large group teaching; presentations; problem-based learning (PBL); relevance of teaching for business students; small group teaching; storytelling
- expectations 21, 22, 281
- experiential learning 223
  - see also* experiential learning and business simulations
- experiential learning and business simulations 109–21
  - abstract conceptualisation 111
  - active experimentation 111
  - affective learning (ie feelings) 111, 115, 117
  - apprenticeship concept 110
  - assessment and feedback 116
  - barriers to good simulation use 117
  - behavioural (psychomotor) learning 111, 117
  - benefits 113
  - blended learning 118
  - categorisation of simulation choice
    - criteria 114
  - cognitive learning (ie knowledge) 111, 115, 117
  - collaboration 111–12, 113, 114, 117–18
  - collective decision making 111, 118
  - competitive factor 113, 114, 116
  - concrete experience 111
  - cooperation 111, 113
  - critical evaluation 116
  - definitions 110
  - duration 114
  - edutainment 110
  - empathy 113
  - engagement 109–10, 113
  - ensuring good learning outcomes 115–16
  - experiential learning cycle (Kolb) 110, 111, 115
  - extended period of time 111
  - feedback 112, 113, 114
  - flipped approach 109
  - fun aspect 118–19
  - gamification 110
  - group working 112, 114, 115
  - hybrid simulations 112, 114
  - icebreakers 117
  - in-game guidance 115
  - individual tasks 114
  - interim results 116
  - key principles 115
  - LD's Business Management
    - Experience simulation 116
  - leader board 116
  - learning by doing and knowledge retention 110
  - management decision making 114, 116
  - measurement – qualitative/quantitative/numbers driven 114
  - online/offline 114, 115
  - participation 114
  - personality or working styles,
    - adapting behaviour to accommodate 113
  - problem-based learning (PBL) 109
  - reflection 110, 111, 115, 116

- role play 111
- 'serious games' 109
- significant input 115
- soft skills development 110, 113
- subject-based learning (SBL)
  - approaches 109
- synchronous or asynchronous
  - working 112
- teamwork 111, 113, 114, 117
- tools or sources 115
- tutor/facilitator input 112
- types of simulation 113–15
- video gaming 110
- what not to do 118
- when to use simulation 112
- experiential learning cycle (Kolb) 20, 21, 110, 111, 115
- feedback 17, 108
  - assessment criteria 280, 282, 288
  - attendance and engagement 3, 40
  - digital literacy 193, 194
  - experiential learning and business simulations 112, 113, 114, 116
  - formative 78, 114, 253
  - games 235, 239
  - international students, language
    - difficulties and cultural factors 154, 155, 159, 161, 163
  - large group teaching 92
  - law: teaching to business students 267
  - maths teaching 244
  - online learning management 224
  - technology-enhanced learning
    - activities and participation 179, 181, 182, 184–5
  - virtual classrooms 212
  - writing 76, 78
  - see also* effective feedback of lecturer
- Ferguson, P. 314
- Fisher, A. 52
- flipped classroom approach 97, 109, 174, 245–6
- foreign language students see international students, language
  - difficulties and cultural factors
- formative assessments 52, 80, 121, 157, 179, 203, 206, 289
- peer assessment 306, 308, 312
- free-rider issues 66–7, 237–8
- Friedman, M. 123–4
- Gabriel, Y. 100–101
- Galton, Sir F. 3
- games 231–9
  - active learning 239
  - anonymity 235–6
  - benefits 232
  - breaking up monotony 232
  - concerns 233–4
  - cooperation 232
  - different learning styles 232
  - discussion and peer learning
    - facilitation 235
  - engagement enhancement 232
  - expected results, non-production of 233
  - feedback 235, 239
  - free-rider problem 237–8
  - heterogeneity factors 232
  - impact on student learning 238–9
  - in-class costs 255
  - large group teaching 94
  - learning by doing 232
  - loss of control of class and students
    - not taking games seriously 233
  - negotiated price market game using playing cards 236–7
  - not enough material covered 233
  - paper-based and online games
    - comparison 231, 234–6
  - peer learning 232
  - peer pressure 236
  - playing cards 234, 236–7
  - prisoner's dilemma 231, 235, 237, 238
  - public goods 237–8
  - raffle tickets 235
  - random matching 235–6
  - time and effort costs 233–4
  - time limits 235
  - tragedy of the commons 238
  - transferable skills 232
- Gardner-Medwin, A.R. 301
- Gibbs, G. 239
- Gibb's reflective cycle 151
- Goffman, E. 84
- group presentations 66–73

- assessment and marks for content and technique 67
- dealing with complaints about non-contributors 67
- free-rider issues 66–7
- group debate presentation
  - assessment feedback template 68–9, 71
- increased attendance and engagement 70
- planting of questions in audience amongst peers 70
- reflection and feedback 69–70
- selection 67–8
- group work 35, 304
  - assessment criteria 287
  - competitive factor 113, 114, 116
  - context and assessment 27
  - creativity 61
  - debates 68–9, 71
  - digital literacy 190
  - experiential learning and business simulations 112, 114, 115
  - maths teaching 245
  - online learning management 223
  - online module: designing and teaching 199, 202
  - oral presentations 66
  - practitioner module partnership and sponsorship 277
  - problem-based learning (PBL) 150–51
  - scenarios 66
    - see also* collaborative learning; group presentations; large group teaching; small groups; teamwork
- Halmos, P. 241
- Halpern, D. 46–7, 48
- HEAR (Higher Education Achievement Record) 64
- icebreakers 26–32, 34–5
  - aims 26–7
  - ‘best experience’ 30–31
  - bingo 31
  - Common Sense Inventory 32
  - definition 26
  - engagement 27–8
  - experiential learning and business simulations 117
  - first impressions 28
  - ‘fun fact’ 31
  - group participation 20–21, 26–7, 29, 32, 33
  - ‘knowing the syllabus’ 29
  - ‘nutty question’ 30
  - ‘photography’ 32
  - ‘programme content knowledge’ 29–30
  - ‘surprise testing’ 31
  - ‘The Little Known Fact’ 28–9
  - time and space available 27
  - ‘true or false’ 29
  - virtual classrooms 216, 218
  - ‘word association’ 29
  - ‘yes/no’ 31–2
- incremental learning 178
- individuation of programmes 9, 223
- infographics 156, 164
- INSEAD Markstrat 115
- instrumental approach to learning 132
- interactive polling software 91, 92–3
- international students, language difficulties and cultural factors 152–7, 159–68, 304
  - accessibility of lecturer 154, 156
  - active recognition of international students 160–62, 163, 165
  - assessments and exams 163–4
  - assessments minimising language deficits 156–7
  - balancing cohorts 159–60, 162, 165
  - confidence, increased 157
  - cultural nuances 159
  - domestic students, inclusion of 162–3, 165
  - familiar cultural references 161–2, 163
  - feedback 154, 155, 159, 161, 163
  - foreign dictionaries and other specific resources 165
  - foreign language 152, 153, 155, 156
  - formative assessment 157
  - inclusion 159, 162, 163–5
  - infographics 156, 164

- intercultural learning 225
- intersection between language and culture 154–5
- isolation and alienation 153, 154
- language proficiency 153
- language support structures 153
- mobile phone usage in classroom, encouragement of 161–2, 164
- online learning management 226
- proactivity 153–4
- rapport 153–4
- recorded lectures 96
- reflective presentation 159
- reliability of lecturer 155
- self-reflection 165
- simplified English 156, 164
- speaking slowly 163
- supplementation of teaching material 155–6, 163–4
- video presentations 157
- writing 75
- iterative learning 221
- Jackson, N. 60, 62, 64
- Jobs, S. 100, 186
- journal items 255
- Kahoot 178, 301
- Kanuka, H. 225
- Kauffman, H. 200
- Kaufman, J.C. 60–61
- language difficulties see international students, language difficulties and cultural factors
- large group teaching 88–98
  - aims for session 91
  - anonymised free text answer option 93
  - asking questions to students 92–3
  - assessment, links to 95
  - attendance and engagement 95
  - breaks 94–5
  - challenges 88–9
  - commencement of lecture and late arrivals 90–91
  - confidence and voice projection 89–90
  - controlling noise before commencement 90
  - displaying photo or data chart relevant to topic 91
  - encouraging students to ask questions 93
  - end of the class 97
  - falling attendance 89
  - feedback 92
  - first lecture 89–90
  - flipped classroom approach 97
  - games 94
  - informal contract with students 94
  - lecture capture 89, 95, 96–7
  - limits on concentration and processing capacities 88
  - meaningful learning activities 92
  - note making rather than note taking 93–4
  - offensive or inappropriate comments, deletion of 93
  - online countdown timer 94–5
  - passive learning, reliance on 89
  - questions from previous year's coursework 91
  - questions and interactive polling software 91, 92–3
  - re-polling questions at end of session 91
  - sending the wrong signals 89
  - signposting of self-directed study 89
  - slides/visual aids 95–6
  - social media 94
  - student activities 89
  - time restrictions 92
  - two-way communication 92
  - video clips – The Box of Broadcasts 91
- Lave, J. 5
- law: teaching to business students 260–70
  - abstracting and simplifying concepts and principles 265
  - analyses and recommendations, presentation of 264
  - analytical and practical reasoning skills 263
  - assessments 269–70
  - communication of knowledge 265–6
  - complex concepts and principles 263

- feedback 267
- flexible framework 267
- language and context of business 264–6
- legal rules not ‘law’ 260–62
- oral assessments 266
- procedure and rule application 262
- ‘roadmap’ 262–3
- roleplaying 266
- student expectations, management of 266–7
- transferable skills and techniques 262–4
- video presentations 266, 267
- LD’s Business Management
  - Experience simulation 116
- learner-centred approach 173
- learning by doing 110, 232
- learning by teaching 174–5
- lecture capture 89, 95, 96–7, 129, 245
- lectures see effective feedback of
  - lecturer; large group teaching
- logical thinking 186
- Loon, M. 110
- Lucas, R. 123–4
- making ‘learning’ happen 7–8
- maths teaching for non-mathematical students 241–8
  - application of theory/concept to problems 243
  - chalk-and-talk method 246
  - diagrammatic analysis 243
  - explicit reference to topics in other modules 243
  - feedback 244
  - flipped classrooms 245–6
  - group work 245
  - history and empirical research as motivations 243
  - humour and mistakes 244–5
  - intuition 243
  - key concepts and theories 243
  - lecture-capture systems 245
  - lectures 241–5
  - mini-breaks 243
  - motivating maths topics 242
  - notations crib sheet 244
  - online assessments 246
  - PowerPoint 245, 246
  - problem-based learning 245–6
  - rapport-building 243
  - scene-setting 241, 243
  - seminars 245–6
  - solution approach, exposition of 243
  - videos 245
  - visualisers 243, 246
  - worked solution 244
  - working area 244
- Mayfield, M. 197, 205
- Melé, D. 258
- Mentimeter 92, 301
- mind maps 51
- mobile phone usage in classroom, encouragement of as learning aid 161–2, 164
- MobLab 234
- multiple choice questions 295–304
  - analysis 297, 299–300
  - application 297, 298–9
  - assessment 295, 297, 300, 301, 302
  - Bloom’s Taxonomy 296, 297
  - careless crafting of questions 296
  - clear and concise questions stems 302
  - ‘clues’ 302
  - comprehension 297
  - confidence-based marking 300–301
  - criticisms 295–6
  - distractors 295–6, 302
  - enhancement 300
  - evaluation 297
  - knowledge 297
  - layering 300
  - memorisation/recall 296
  - negative marking 301
  - numerical answers, avoidance of 302–3
  - objective identification 302
  - presentation 303
  - responsive teaching 301–2
  - synthesis 297
  - testing higher-order thinking skills 297–8
  - time allocation 302
  - tips for writing good MCQs 302–3
  - understanding 298
  - usage 296–7

- National Student Survey 124, 280, 313, 317
- nativist approaches to learning 2–3
- natural stimulus 4
- newspaper articles or editorials 51
- Nicol, D. 301–2
- note-taking 15, 16, 18
- OneDrive 292
- online learning management 222–8
- active learning 222
  - amplifications and reductions 225
  - anonymity 226
  - asynchronous learning 223
  - bulletin boards 228
  - case studies 223
  - cognitive and social learning theory 222
  - collaborative learning 223, 225–6
  - constructivist learning 222, 223
  - consultancy sessions 228
  - cooperation 223
  - course design 225
  - courseware usability 223
  - cultural and institutional differences 226
  - demonstration 223
  - discussion boards 223
  - email contact 223, 227
  - encouragement or prompts 227
  - engagement enhancement 228
  - equity and equality 225
  - experiential learning 223
  - feedback 224
  - flexibility and convenience 225
  - group-based work 223
  - individual work modes 223
  - instruction 223
  - intercultural learning 225
  - internationalisation of curriculum 227
  - navigation frame 223
  - opportunities and challenges 224–7
  - participation 224, 227
  - personal development planning 223
  - podcasts 223, 228
  - problem-based work 223
  - process 223–4
  - real-world examples 223
  - reflective learning 223
  - requirements and online behaviour 227
  - scaffolding 223
  - self-directed study 223
  - self-reflection 223
  - short summaries of readings 227
  - storyboard templates 223, 228
  - student learning assessment 224
  - support availability 227
  - synchronous learning 223, 228
  - thinking and learning skills 225
  - transformation system 222
  - video interviews 223, 228
  - webinars 223, 228
  - weekly messages 227
  - wikis 223, 228
  - word limits 226
- online module: designing and teaching 197–208, 210
- ABC model 200
  - ADDIE model of instructional design 197, 200, 205
  - analysis 197–200
  - blended learning 202
  - communications, engagements or individual and group activities needed 201–2
  - content creation 198, 201, 204, 206–7
  - curriculum design models 200
  - definition 198–9
  - delivery of module 200, 207
  - design 200–201
  - development 203–4, 206–7
  - direction and support in development and delivery process 199–200
  - discussion boards 198
  - eLearning design models 200
  - engagement levels 198
  - evaluation 205–8
  - face-to-face or blended learning programme 202
  - flexibility and interactions 198
  - geographical limitations of e.g. Box of Broadcasts 201
  - group work 199, 202
  - implementation 204–5
  - instructional design models 200–201
  - journals or ePortfolios 202

- learner expectations 198–9
- new skills development of teacher 199
- organising content around topics 203
- overall learning pathway creation 206
- presentation of content 204, 205
- real-time engagement 198
- reliability issues 201
- short text or video content 206–7
- structuring content on VLE 203
- structuring resources in VLE 202–3
- templating, guidance and support 202
- tools available and layout choices 202, 204
- tutor-to-student communication 201
- VLE 199, 207
- wikis 198
- open-door policy 77, 79–80
  - see also* appointments
- operant conditioning 4
- optimal learning environment 34

- pair-programming approach 192, 194, 221
- pair-working 182
- peer assessment 184, 305–12
  - anonymised earlier works 308
  - assessment for learning 309
  - background and culture 311
  - behavioural and critical skills 305, 306
  - cognitive and behavioural skills 309
  - communication skills 306
  - critical thinking 52–3
  - examples 307–8
  - ‘fitness to practise’ 305, 312
  - formative work 306, 308, 312
  - forms of 306–7
  - group assessments 307–8
  - group-to-group 307
  - group-to-individual 307
  - individual-to-individual 307
  - for learning 309
  - networked learning 215
  - paired assessments 307
  - peer evaluation 306
  - peer review 306
- preparing students to engage in 309–11
- problem-based learning 309, 312
- student involvement, reasons for 306
- summative work 306–7, 308, 312
- written work 306
- personalised learning 182
- Philip, R. 59–60
- Poll Everywhere 92, 301
- posters in academic assessments 289–94
  - background colour schemes 291
  - cloud-based repository or website 292
  - copyright and fair use of images 291
  - Creative Commons (CC) images 291
  - credibility, academic 289–90
  - design and layout issues 291–2
  - file format 291
  - font size 291
  - graphic design 292, 293
  - margins 291
  - negative space 291
  - original research 290–91
  - presentation 290
  - QR codes 292–3
  - shaping how reader views poster content 291
  - showcase 293
  - summative assessment 291
  - superscript text 292
  - Three-Minute Thesis (3MT) competition 290
  - url-shortener (e.g. bit.ly) 293
  - visual communication 290, 293
- PowerPoint 15, 93, 122–5, 216, 245–6, 288
- practitioner module partnership and sponsorship 271–8
  - additional support 274
  - administrative load 277
  - background and practical challenges 272–3
  - business problem 278
  - central theme 275
  - contact through campaign development process 273
  - coursework and exam performance, improved 275

- disadvantages 277
- employability benefits 275–6
- experience for use at interviews and selection 276
- foundations of effective sponsorship 277–8
- group work 277
- guest lectures on – ‘art of pitching’ 273, 274
- integration and application of
  - research and theory in exam setting 275
- integration and relationship building
  - of teacher with large student group 275
- internships, employment and incentives 276
- joint review and amendment of
  - content from 273
- learning and teaching benefits 275
- learning and teaching challenges 276–7
- module sequence and content
  - alteration 276
- network growth 276
- paid internships award 274
- partnering with organisation 277–8
- pitch performance prizes 274
- pitching panel 273–4
- practical assessment 273
- practical and commercial operational
  - constraints of partner organisation 278
- practical work-based skills
  - development 276
- preparation, increased 277
- relevance 273, 275
- sourcing business problem or organisational issue 278
- sponsorship 273–4
- student briefing by agency/client 273
- student evaluation, improved 275
- time and resources 278
- tutorial time and out-of-lecture support 277
- workload and effort, increased 277
- presentations 122–30
  - animation tab in PowerPoint 125
  - assessment criteria 287
  - audience involvement 128
  - backgrounds 125
  - bullet points 125
  - cold-calling students and rapport
    - building 128
  - confidence and personality
    - projection 127, 128
  - delivery 125–9
  - diagrams and pictures 125
  - difficult questions, dealing with 128
  - duration and time limits 124
  - economics lecturing 123–5
  - hostility, dealing with 127
  - humour 128
  - lecture-capture 129
  - listening back to presentation 128–9
  - mobile phone interruptions,
    - avoidance of 130
  - opening line 128
  - PowerPoint over-use 122–4
  - PowerPoint tips 124–5
  - practice 127
  - quantity and comprehensiveness of
    - slides 124
  - self-deprecation 128
  - speaking clearly, body language and
    - eye contact 127, 128, 129
  - style 24
  - videos 125, 157, 245, 256, 266–7
  - visualisation techniques 127
  - see also* group presentations
- Pritchard, A. 4
- problem-based learning (PBL) 109, 139–51
  - ambiguity 148
  - challenges with institution 147–8
  - challenges with students 146–7
  - charity challenge project 142
  - collaboration 151
  - complex problems 142
  - digital literacy 187, 189, 192, 193
  - engagement 142, 148
  - engaging and fun problems 142
  - examples of student events 142, 143
  - face saving and rapport 148
  - facilitation 147
  - fairness and consistency issues 148
  - funding 146
  - groundwork 145
  - group ‘contract’ 150–51

- group size 150
- maths teaching 245–6
- mixture of assessment measures 144–5
- non-prescriptive problems 142
- online learning management 223
- outcome measures 144
- PBL teacher/student relationship picture 140
- peer assessment 309, 312
- practical problems 141
- preparatory work of colleagues 146
- preparatory work of students 144
- preparatory work of university 144–6
- problem-solving 140, 146
- problems suited for PBL 141–2
- process measures 144
- real world problems 139–40, 141, 146, 148
- relevant problems 142
- resources 147
- skill development and workload 148
- social loafing 150–51
- stakeholder support 145
- support/coaching from teaching staff 144, 146–7
- teamworking 146–7, 151
- theoretical basis 148
- traditional teacher/student relationship picture 139
- why PBL is rewarding for staff 141
- why PBL is rewarding for students 140–41
- psychological perspective to learning 2, 5
- psychometric measures for recruitment and selection 3
- psychomotor domain 8–9
- purposeful, reasoned and goal directed thinking 46, 47–8
- quizzes 29, 179, 216, 301
- rapport-building 32, 153–4, 170, 218, 243
- recorded lectures see lecture capture
- reflection in experiential learning and business simulations 110, 111, 115, 116
- reflection logs 105
- reflective learning 223
- reflective practice 48, 52
- reflective thinking 193
- reflective writing 180–82
- relevance of teaching for business students 131–8
  - application of material to personal experience 133–4
  - application of material to the real world 135–6
  - application of material and topicality 134–5
  - assessment 137–8
  - critical thinking 132
  - debate skills 132
  - engagement levels 134
  - giving work-related scenarios to address 137, 138
  - instrumental approach to learning 132
  - integrating concepts to help understand the real world ('bigger picture') 136–7
  - linking assessment to real organisation situations 138
  - making assessments relevant 137–8
  - making clear relevance of information 133
  - teaching non-relevant information 131–2
- Rienties, B. 201
- role play 89, 111, 184–5, 266
- room layout for session plan 34
- Rooney, W. 127
- Rourke, L. 225
- Sadler, D.R. 316–17, 318, 324
- second language see international students, language difficulties and cultural factors
- self-assessment 52
- self-directed learning 78, 182
- self-managed work e.g. dissertation 53
- ShowMe app 167
- Simon, H. 187
- situated activity 7
- situated learning events 179–82
- Skinner, B.F. 4

- slides/visual aids 17, 18, 95–6
  - see also* PowerPoint
- small group teaching 169–75
  - assertiveness techniques 173–4
  - attention-seeking technique 172–3
  - building positive relationships with students 169–70
  - cultural differences 171
  - digital literacy 193
  - engagement 171
  - flipped-learning or flipped classroom approach 174
  - greeting by name and use of memory aids 170, 173
  - ground rules 170, 172
  - group activities and interactive debates and discussions 172
  - introductory session 170
  - introverted and extroverted students 171–5
  - learner-centred approach 173
  - learning by teaching 174–5
  - one-to-one interaction 172
  - personalities 171
  - rapport-building 170
  - student-centred learning 173–4
  - tailoring sessions to meet individual needs 169, 170–71
  - time limits and timer/alarm 172
- social learning theory 222
- social loafing 150–51
- Socratic 92, 301
- soft skills development 110, 113
- special learning needs and recorded lectures 96
- sponsorship see practitioner module partnership and sponsorship
- standardised intelligence tests 3
- Stepanova, A. 239
- storytelling as teaching technique 99–108
  - board plans 102–3
  - case studies and stories: distinction 103–4
  - critical analysis 104
  - critical engagement 103, 104–5, 106
  - critical thinking 99
  - emotional involvement 104
  - empathy encouragement 104
  - engagement 100
  - familiar stories 100
  - fiction 100
  - importance of stories 105
  - main points when choosing and using stories 105–6
  - messages of knowledge 100
  - multiple perspectives 99
  - narrator recounting experience and expression emotion 104
  - short, emotionally charged stories 101, 102
  - students' reflections 102
- student names, pronunciation and memorisation of 28
- student-centred learning 173–4
- subject-based learning (SBL) approaches 109
- summative assessment
  - creativity 61, 63
  - peer assessment 307, 308, 312
  - posters in academic assessments 289, 291
  - technology-enhanced learning activities 179, 180, 182, 184
- support centre appointments 320
- synchronous learning 223, 228
- Taylor, B. 239
- teaching content see corporate social responsibility embedded in teaching; games; law: teaching to business students; maths teaching to non-mathematical students; practitioner module partnership and sponsorship
- Teaching Excellence Framework (TEF) 14, 124
- teamworking 67, 69
  - experiential learning and business simulations 111, 113, 114, 117
  - problem-based learning (PBL) 146–7, 151
- technology-enhanced learning activities and participation 177–85
- active learning 177
- automated developmental quizzes 178–9
- collaborative, collective and personalised learning 182

- confidence-building and emotional wellbeing 182
- 'doing' sessions 180–81
- engagement levels 182
- feedback 179, 181, 182, 184–5
- formative learning 179
- incremental learning 178
- introspective and retrospective analysis 181
- lived experience 180
- pair-working 182
- peer assessment 184
- reflective writing 180–82
- self-directed learning 182
- situated learning events 179–82
- summative assessment 180, 182, 184
- virtual learning environments (VLEs) 177–9
- wikis 181–2
- see also* digital literacy; online learning management; online module: designing and teaching; virtual classrooms
- theoretical perspectives 2–10
  - affective domain 8
  - behaviourist learning 3–6
  - Bloom's Taxonomy of learning objectives 8, 9, 10
  - cognitive domain 8
  - constructivist learning 5–6
  - curriculum design 8–10
  - knowledge and knowing 5, 6
  - learning theory 10
  - making 'learning' happen 7–8
  - nativist approaches to learning 2–3
  - psychological perspective 2, 5
  - psychomotor domain 8–9
- Three-Minute Thesis (3MT) competition 290
- Toetenel, L. 201
- Toksvig, S. 131
- tutorial reports 40–41
- Universities and Colleges Admissions Service 74
- Veconlab 234
- video presentations 157, 245, 256, 266–7
- virtual classrooms 211–19, 221
  - activities selection 215–17
  - additional detail 217
  - additional teaching or moderator support 214–15, 216
  - anonymity 218
  - application sharing 216
  - blended learning 213–14, 217, 219
  - break-out rooms/break-out sessions 212, 213, 215, 216, 219
  - 'chat' 215, 216, 218
  - collaborative learning 221
  - confidentiality 213
  - critical reflection 215
  - cultural variations 215
  - delivery of session 217–19
  - designing effective session 214–15, 216
  - directed learning 219
  - engagement levels 214, 215, 217
  - ethical issues 213
  - etiquette and pedagogy 217, 218
  - feedback 212
  - flexibility 216
  - group discussions 212
  - group space, customised 215
  - high-impact blend 214
  - holistic perspective 212
  - icebreakers 216, 218
  - introductory warm up quiz 216
  - iterative learning 221
  - list of student names 218
  - low-impact blend 213
  - maximum class size 214
  - meaning 212
  - medium-impact blend 213
  - native language of participants 217
  - pair programming approach 221
  - peer-to-peer, networked learning 215
  - planning and communication 218
  - planning use of 212–14
  - 'polling' 216
  - 'raise hand' 216, 218
  - rapport-building 218
  - 'silences' 218
  - summary of key learning content 216
  - support 212
  - time lags 218
  - 'timer' feature 216

- tone used in session 217
- webinars 211, 212, 218
- whiteboard use 213
- virtual learning environments (VLEs)
  - 177–9, 199, 202, 203, 207
  - see also* virtual classrooms
- visualiser 95, 96, 243, 246
- VUCA (volatility, uncertainty, complexity and ambiguity) 58–9
- Vygotsky, L.S. 5

- Wenger, E. 5
- WhatsApp 199
- white boards 35
- wikis 181–2, 198, 223, 228, 254, 255
- writing 74–86
  - application 76–7
  - cultural backgrounds 75
  - deconstruction 77, 81–2, 83
  - effective planning 83–4
  - engagement 84
  - ethnicity or gender and training standards 79
  - feedback, detailed yet ungraded 76, 78
  - formative work 80
  - further education 74
  - higher education 74
  - identity 77, 84–5
  - interaction with teacher 77
  - legal education 76
  - marking criteria 77–8
  - open-door policy and/or appointments 77, 79–80
  - performance 84–5
  - process 77, 82–4
  - simplicity 76, 80–81
  - skills element 76
  - socioeconomic status, development and skillset 79
  - support 76, 78–80
  - syllabus, clear 77–8
  - transition 77
  - translatability 82
  - ‘two pyramids’ – research pyramid and process pyramid 83–4
  - ‘why’, notion of 81–2, 83

- Xun Kuang 109
- Zone of Proximal Development (ZPD) 5