

Contents

---

About the editors	ix
List of contributors	xii
1 What we wish we had known: lessons learned to keep your doctorate on track Rebecca Loudoun, Emily A. Morrison, Mark N.K. Saunders and Keith Townsend	1
PART I GETTING INTO IT
2 Choosing your topic: a supervisor perspective Jimmy Donaghey	14
3 'Begin at the beginning': identifying ideas for a PhD Graeme Dobson	22
4 'I want to do it because I want to do it': boarding flight PhD Jemma J. Saunders	31
5 Asking "the" question Emily McDonald	34
6 Whose doctorate is it anyway? How students and supervisors can work well together Carol Atkinson and Keith Townsend	36
7 When an orchestra misses its harmony (or how I learnt to work with my supervisors) Mai Khanh Tran	43
8 'How much time do I get?????' Peter J. Jordan	52
9 Views from the top and views of the valley: the paths of dissertation literature reviews Maria Cseh	55
10 Critically reviewing the literature: the ghosts of literature present, past and future Linzi McKerr	65

11	Reading academic papers: visiting and re-visiting old friends Jennifer Robinson	74
12	Research philosophies and why they matter Natasha S. Mauthner	76
13	Getting your research philosophy clear Rosanna Cole	87
14	Changing philosophy (aka the only PhD is a finished PhD) Brian Harney	95
15	Designing and conducting a quantitative study: lessons learned from work, home, and school Kim Nimon	97
16	Strategies for analysing qualitative data: how to get started with making sense of all that material you've collected Anette Hallin	107
17	Discovering statistics and developing a quantitative research design Ursula Furnier	117
18	Mirror, Mirror, on the wall, how am I making sense of it all? Merrel Knox	125
19	Too much of a good thing – tradeoffs between training and completion? Keith Townsend	135

PART II GETTING ON WITH IT

20	Critical feedback: transforming criticisms into indispensable insights Emily A. Morrison	142
21	'They think I'm stupid': dealing with supervisor feedback Amanda Lee	159
22	No book or resource has all the answers Rebecca Loudoun	167
23	"Ok Google ... since when did you join my supervision team?" Adam Robertson	169
24	Embracing research ethics: from cognitive walk-through to reflexive journey Rebecca Whiting	171
25	Gaining ethical approval Nora Pillard Reynolds	182

26	But I am just going home: research ethics and student safety Safa Riaz	191
27	Organizational governance: the final hurdles for research approval Amy N.B. Johnston	193
28	Wearing skirts and writing like a woman: a winding road to gaining access to research Ana Alecsandru	200
29	Gaining access to apparently easy informants Mireia Valverde	210
30	Letters from a doctoral researcher to a data collection advice column ... and the responses Sharon F. Lambert	213
31	Addressing power differentials and managing egos: how to collect reliable qualitative data when researching 'elites' Chris F. Wright	228
32	Time is waiting in the wings Mark N.K. Saunders	238
33	Navigating the supervisory relationship: the case of the disappearing supervisors Vicki Webster	248
34	Managing time and maintaining focus Colin Hughes	256
35	Tightrope walking: balancing the dynamic tensions of the doctoral process Andrea Casey	264
36	Keeping your life on track: living one spoon at a time Emma Partlow	272
37	Opportunities and challenges of studying abroad Aurora Trif	281
38	Keeping life and career on track as a non-traditional doctorate student Vicki Webster	283
39	Finders, keepers, losers, weepers! A doctoral candidate's reality of changing thesis advisors Polly Watson Black	285
40	To leave or not to leave your Alma Mater Raymond Markey	293
41	My journey Gerard Ryan	303

PART III GETTING IT FINISHED AND MOVING ON

42	Eat, sleep, redraft, repeat Ana Lobo	308
43	Challenges in writing up qualitative findings Victor Oyaro Gekara	316
44	The power to write Melika Shirmohammadi	323
45	Writing your thesis quickly and well Tara Gray	325
46	Rewriting and overcoming writer's block Grace Henry	336
47	Overcoming writer's block (and submission anxiety) Fiona Archontoulis	344
48	The final mile: avoiding and overcoming viva trip-ups Dawn C. Duke	345
49	My viva voce examination: a rollercoaster! Zeineb Djebali	356
50	Let me defend myself (or at least my thesis) Qian Yi Lee	365
51	Networking with academics to solve your PhD puzzle Adam Robertson	367
52	Are conferences worth attending as a graduate student? Reflections and lessons from a former graduate student Tomika W. Greer	377
53	A tale of three dissertations: experiences of transforming mentored research into an article Jamie Callahan	387
54	How can you publish from your dissertation? Katherine Rosenbusch	398
55	Publishing from your thesis Dennis Nickson	408
56	Getting the first academic job Oliver S. Crocco	410
57	Beyond the doctorate: getting your first job Holly Prescott	420
58	Publications, what publications? Mark N.K. Saunders	429
59	Balancing act Polly Watson Black	431
	Index	433