

Contents

---

List of figures	viii
List of contributors	ix
Preface: The story of this book	xiv
PART I	WHY SHOULD WE CARE ABOUT THE RELEVANCE AND IMPACT OF OUR RESEARCH?
1	Introducing the book: the what, why and how of relevance and impact 2
	Friederike Welter, David Urbano, Turki Alfahaid, Abdullah Aljarodi, Elsa Breit, Andreas Buhrandt, Débora de Castro Leal, Sina Feldermann, Jonas Janisch, Philipp Köhn, Tatiana Lopez, Anne Löscher, Anna Müller, Max Paschke, Philipp Julian Ruf, Julia Schnittker and Christine Weigel
PART II	HOW TO IDENTIFY RELEVANCE IN YOUR RESEARCH TOPIC: NEW DIRECTIONS IN ENTREPRENEURSHIP RESEARCH
2	Bring your background up and keep the context in mind to choose the right conversation 11
	Sebastian Aparicio
3	Irrelevant or relevant: key learnings from an early career researcher for other early career researchers 13
	Jonas Janisch
4	Schrödinger's family firm: on the German legislator implicitly defining the family business and how he attempts to protect it 23
	Andreas Buhrandt
5	Can you spare a dollar, please? Foreign exchange shortage as a persistent challenge to economic development 34
	Anne Löscher

PART III HOW TO MAKE YOUR RESEARCH
APPROACHES RELEVANT

6	Find your conversation and join it Claudia Alvarez	48
7	The real deal: a researcher among practitioners Inga Haase	50
8	From practice to practice: an example for the relevance of research (projects) and its implications Julia Schnittker	61
9	Different approaches of context in quantitative entrepreneurship research Abdullah Aljarodi, Tatiana Lopez and Turki Alfahaid	69
10	How to study context in quantitative entrepreneurship research Christine Weigel and Christian Soost	80
11	Reflections of an activist-academic Débora de Castro Leal	92

PART IV HOW TO TRANSFER YOUR RESEARCH RESULTS

12	Be passionate about your research topics and share this passion Kerstin Ettl	104
13	The life cycle of academia and its impact on early career researchers' publishing behaviour Philipp Julian Ruf and Philipp Köhn	106
14	Living under the restrictions of a 'publish or perish' culture Christine Weigel and Anna Müller	119
15	Fighting for attention: early career researchers and the online scientific community Inga Haase and Anna Müller	130
16	The value of business events for engaged scholarship Elsa Breit	142
17	Bridging the gap: contextualization as a lighthouse Max Paschke	154

PART V AFTERTHOUGHTS

18	An ongoing journey: developing relevance and impact dimensions of entrepreneurship research Tatiana Lopez, Anna Müller and Max Paschke	167
	Index	174