

Preface

We would like to thank all of the remarkable scholars who participated in this volume for their thoughtful and critical examinations of populism and the need for resistance across so many fields and disciplines, as well as their patience with endless emails. In addition, we wish to thank the editors and editorial team at Edward Elgar (including Alan Sturmer and Katia Williford) for their patience and assistance throughout the process. We are grateful to Cassie Price for her editorial eye and to Dean Sandra Peart and the Jepson School of Leadership Studies for their support.

