Contributors

Catherine Banet is Associate Professor in the Scandinavian Institute of Maritime Law, Department of Energy and Resources Law at the University of Oslo, Norway. She specialises in energy law, environmental law, competition law, EU/EEA law and law of the sea. Banet has a background in private law practice (Norway, France), the European Commission (DG ENV), U.S. diplomatic mission and academia. She is a member of the Advisory Academic Group to the International Bar Association, Section for Energy, Environment and Natural Resources and Infrastructure Law (SEERIL), and Academic Fellow at the Center on Regulation in Europe (CERRE).

Janice Denoncourt (BA (McGill), LLB (West. Australia), LLM (Murdoch), LLM (Bournemouth), PhD (Nottingham)) is Associate Professor at Nottingham Law School, Nottingham Trent University, UK. Denoncourt is an interdisciplinary researcher and author of Intellectual Property, Finance and Corporate Governance (Routledge, 2018) and contributes to the LLM International Financial Transactions module on IP finance. She is a graduate of the Australian Institute of Company Directors (GAICD), a Senior Fellow of the Higher Education Academy (SFHEA) and formerly practised as a barrister and solicitor in Western Australia and a solicitor in England and Wales. Denoncourt has been affiliated with Nottingham Law School, Nottingham Trent University, UK since 2008. She is a Herbert Smith Freehills and Minter Ellison alumna and has advised start-ups, SMEs, large private and publicly listed companies.

Joel B. Eisen is Professor at the University of Richmond School of Law, USA and is an internationally recognized expert on energy law and policy. In addition to courses in energy law, he teaches federal administrative law and environmental law. He has authored the textbook, Energy, Economics and the Environment: An Advanced Introduction to Renewable Energy, and other books, chapters, treatises and articles on clean and renewable energy. His article on renewable energy was honoured as one of the top four environmental law articles of 2011. He was Richmond Law’s inaugural Austin Owen Research Fellow, and Vermont Law School’s 2019 Distinguished Energy Law Scholar.
Daniel J. Gervais is Professor and Milton R. Underwood Chair in Law at Vanderbilt University Law School, USA and Director of the Vanderbilt Intellectual Property Program. He also holds a Professor II appointment at the Faculty of Law of the University of Oslo. In 2017–2019, he served as President of the International Association for the Advancement of Teaching and Research in Intellectual Property (ATRIP). He has published a multitude of books and articles in the field of international intellectual property, including The TRIPS Agreement: Drafting History and Analysis (5th edn, Thomson/Sweet & Maxwell, 2021) and Restructuring Copyright: A Path Towards International Copyright Reform (Edward Elgar, 2019). He is a member of the Academy of Europe and of the American Law Institute where he serves as Associate Reporter on the Restatement of Copyright (First) Project.

Inger B. Ørstavik, PhD, is Professor in the Department of Private Law at the University of Oslo, Norway. Ørstavik obtained her PhD in 2010 with the thesis ‘The innovation spiral: questions in patent law, contract law and competition law relating to improvements of patented inventions’. The thesis was awarded H.M. the King’s gold medal. She has experience from the Attorney General for Civil Affairs and from private practice. Ørstavik has published articles in intellectual property law, competition law and contract law. She teaches intellectual property law and property law, and has taught international human rights at Fudan University in Shanghai, China.

Kristen Jakobsen Osenga is Austin E. Owen Research Scholar and Professor of Law at the University of Richmond School of Law, USA as well as a Senior Scholar at the Center for the Protection of Intellectual Property, Antonin Scalia Law School, George Mason University. Her areas of expertise include patent law and other intellectual property law, law and language and legislation and regulation. Her latest publications include, inter alia, the journal articles ‘Patent-eligible subject matter … still wielding the wrong weapon – 12 years later’, 60 IDEA 104 (2020), and ‘Institutional design for innovation: a radical Taina Pihlajarinne, LL.D, is Professor at Helsinki University Faculty of Law, Finland and is researching and teaching intellectual property rights. Her research interests are focused on the impacts of digitalization and technological advances on law and on the relationship between sustainability, innovation and law. She has written extensively on these issues and she is a leader of research projects relating to these themes. Additionally, she serves as a Vice Dean responsible for research at the Helsinki University Faculty of Law.

Ole-Andreas Rognstad is Professor in the Department of Private Law and Centre for European Law at the University of Oslo, Norway and since 2021 has been Visiting Professor at the University of Helsinki, Finland. His authorship includes his doctoral thesis on ‘Distribution of copies of copyright works’ (1999), a textbook on (Norwegian) copyright law, a recent monograph (in English) on Property Aspects of Intellectual Property (Cambridge University Press, 2018), contributions to a (co-authored) textbook on EEA law as well as a large number of articles, mainly in the field of intellectual property. He has chaired, and been a member of, a number of public dispute settlement resolution bodies in Norway, is chairing the Norwegian Copyright Association and is a member of the European Copyright Society, Academy of Europe and the Norwegian Scientific Academy.

Peter K. Yu is Regents Professor of Law and Communication and Director of the Center for Law and Intellectual Property at Texas A&M University, USA. Born and raised in Hong Kong, he previously held the Kern Family Chair in Intellectual Property Law at Drake University Law School and was Wenlan Scholar Chair Professor at Zhongnan University of Economics and Law in Wuhan, China. He served as a Visiting Professor of Law at Bocconi University, Hanken School of Economics, Hokkaido University, the University of Haifa, the University of Helsinki, the University of Hong Kong and the University of Strasbourg.