

Contents

---

List of contributors	vii
Foreword	viii
Dora Kostakopoulou
Acknowledgements	xvii
1 Introduction: framing the methodology of justice, injustice and Brexit Tawhida Ahmed and Elaine Fahey	1
PART I WHOSE AND WHITHER JUSTICE AFTER BREXIT?
2 Lexit and the mystification of political economy David Seymour	23
3 The legal profession's responsibility for Brexit Damjan Kukovec	39
4 The constitutional architecture of injustice Paul O'Connell	55
PART II BREXIT AND GOVERNANCE
5 The only certainty is uncertainty: risk to rights in the Brexit process Joelle Grogan	65
6 'The will of the people': the UK constitution, (parliamentary) sovereignty, and Brexit Alex Powell	81
7 Brexit and the siren-like allure of sovereignty Sionaidh Douglas-Scott	96
8 Brexit, justice and dispute settlement Jed Odermatt	111

PART III CITIZENS AND VULNERABLE PERSONS

9	Human rights protection as justice in post-Brexit Britain: a case study of deportation Adrienne Yong	128
10	Brexit and the balance of free movement and social justice Polly Ruth Polak	142
11	Will there be justice in healthcare post-Brexit? Sabrina Germain	158
12	Legal uncertainty, distrust and injustice in post-Brexit asylum cooperation Ermioni Xanthopoulou	175

PART IV TERRITORY AND GLOBALISATION

13	The constitutional implications of Brexit for Northern Ireland Luke McDonagh	190
14	Brexit and transitional justice: Brexit as a challenge to peacebuilding Nikos Skoutaris	205
15	Brexit, freedom, and justice: the difficulties of political constitutionalism with the supranational/global Samo Bardutzky	222
16	Brexit and international trade: the aspiration of global Britain David Collins	238
17	The liberal order: holed below the waterline or a ship that we can rebuild at sea? Joseph Corkin	253
18	Conclusions Tawhida Ahmed and Elaine Fahey	272
	Index	276