accountability 84, 85, 88, 90, 92, 95, 96, 351 active citizenship
  and cities 370
  concept of 317–18
  definition 325
  and protest participation 324–7 admission 26–8
alien suffrage 198, 200, 203 anti-migration protest 317–18, 320–324, 327 assimilationism 29, 30–31, 124, 160, 261, 376, 377, 379, 400 asylum claims 120, 137, 144, 189, 219, 228–9, 231, 318, 320–321 asylum policy 317, 321 asylum protests alliances with people with legal citizenship 325–6 and citizenship 317–18, 326, 327, 328
  context 317–18
  limitations 328
  pro- and anti-asylum 320–324, 327
asylum seekers
  and communitarianism 180
  Covid-19 pandemic threatening to roll back rights of 101
  at end of Cold War 106
  in Europe 218–20, 229, 230, 336, 338, 368
  and gender 238
  looking for work 334
  naturalization 181
  neoliberal ideas advocating acceptance of 178 numbers and causes 102–3, 229 as path to citizenship 185–6 political obstacles to enhancing rights 231 political participation 260, 310
  and PRR advocates 378 refused 260, 335, 340
  shifting discourses on 58 Austria 126–8, 188, 211, 213, 226–7, 232–3, 304, 322, 377 authoritarian populism 238–42 Belgium
  agreement to eliminate border controls 217 dissociation between nationality and citizenship 335–6 electoral mobilization 296 estimated share of nationals with migration background in 285 extreme forms of political mobilization 306 Italian coal and steel workers in 214
migrant penalties 226–7 migrants without long-term residence status 230 path to naturalization 197 ‘threat’ framing 273
voting behavior 289–90, 292, 296–7
belonging and allegiances 335
  as being possible to buy 145–6
  citizenship
    as basis of ethnic 348
    as belonging to community 135, 272, 324 defined by philosophical values of 337 common 22, 24, 30
  cultural 22–3
double 345
to Dutch society 53
Greek 88, 92, 94, 95, 96
to in-groups 287
and identitarianism 7, 366 as instrumental discourse of political elite 370 and intercultural citizenship 397, 399 legality, ambiguity with 368–9 migrant, ambiguity of 45 ‘mobility turn’ changing and challenging feelings of 366 national 245
‘naturally’ 324 normative principles of 119, 120–121 to out-groups 287, 298–9 to political parties and trade unions 307–8, 309 PRR’s idea of 378, 379, 385 to religious or sports-related organisations 307–8 sense of 21, 42, 154, 166, 241 social 367
and social cohesion 151, 152–3, 154, 159–60 territorial 342
urban 370
big data 70–71
Bolkestein, F. 164–5, 174 border controls 27, 44, 59, 120, 217, 257, 317, 377, 384 (b)ordering perspective avenues for future research 61 benefit of 61
  on integration and citizenship 58–60

405
Handbook of citizenship and migration

scope of 53
Swiss integration stage model 60
Bulgaria 125, 126–7, 211, 219, 285

cities migrants’ rights in 364–7
and mobility 361–4, 365, 371 renewal through migration 364 return of 361, 370
rights, economics and social belonging 367 sanctuary 186, 348, 368–9 and urban citizenship 41, 367–70 urban configurations of diversity and openness 364

citizen

versus alien 45, 348, 353 bad 31, 344
carer 180
concept of 1
criteria to become 27, 28, 377 emerging 182–3 engagement 368 etymology of 135
European Union 336
ex ante ‘natural’ and ex post ‘created’ 351 failed 142, 145
global cosmopolitan 137
in Greece 87, 89, 93
ideas of ‘good’ 24, 29–30, 31, 322, 383, 386 importance to PRR 381–6
and integration 29–30
market-based conception of 137 in membership dimension 7 and migrant dichotomy 45 and nationals 341, 343
and neoliberalism 242, 323
new kind of 13
politicizing 386
populist understanding of 376, 377, 379, 383–6 PRR’s understanding of
and conceptualization of 381–4
identifying 379–80, 386 relation with state 333, 335, 337, 345 revolutionary 340
second-class 23, 31, 182–3, 335 of secular state 167 status of 33, 40, 128, 130, 367 substantive content of being 348, 352 and territory 73
and unemployment 226
Western industrial 143
worker 180, 243
citizenship

admission 26–8
aspects of 22
and asylum protests 317–18, 326, 327, 328 (b)ordering perspective on 58–60 conception based on democratic integration of all 30–32 constituting through acts 324–7 as contested category 22–4 contextualizing 318–20
Culturalization 167, 169, 173 ‘de-ethnicisation’ or ‘re-ethnicisation’ of 204 defining 1–2
dimensions membership, rights and participation 2 ontological 349–52, 357 phenomenological 352–4, 357 teleological 354–6, 357 earning through integration 139–42 epistemological 352, 354, 356–7
in Europe

current situation 218–20
European Union 140, 216–20, 335, 343
historical development 210–215, 220 expansive 197, 199, 206, 349 extra-territorial 73 forms of 37
formal and informal 379 negotiations of 337–40
and framing 272

gendering outcomes for immigrants 242–3 ideas of communitarian, nativist 323–4 merit-based 320–322

from post-national to more closed 322–3 and identity politics 105–12
and immigration 119–21
importance to PRR 381–4
inclusion 28–30
measures 71–2
nation-state 236–7

normative conception of 5, 21, 22, 33 partial 33, 182
performative view 5, 23, 31–2, 370 and political participation 254–64 populist understanding of 376, 377, 379, 384 present challenges and future perspectives 15–17

PRR’s understanding of

and conceptualization of 381–4
identifying 379–80, 386
qualitative approaches 83–97
quantitative approaches 66–75 in realm of institutions and policy elites 347–8 relationship with migration 1, 37, 66 citizenship as challenged by 333–7 French case 340–345
intersection between 38–47, 59 migration as threat for 24–5 strained relationship with populism and immigration 377–9 voting rights as fundamental right of 284, 299 see also active citizenship; denied citizenship; economic citizenship; empirical research; industrial citizenship; intercultural citizenship (IC); market citizenship; multicultural citizenship (MC); multiple citizenships; urban citizenship

citizenship acquisition for asylum seekers and immigrants 183–8 and deservingness 91–2, 121, 122, 130 ex post ‘created’ citizen 351 Greek 91–2, 94–6
in life-course perspective 66–7 long-distance dual strategies 74 as marker for immigrant’s life chances 128, 130 measures 71
public attitudes towards
and national membership 130 patterns and trends in 125–8, 129
research on 123–5
by second-class citizens 182–3 in theory and practice 94–5 citizenship indicators 71–2, 75 citizenship models
complementing with border regime perspective 60–61 Greek and Roman 2 inclusive 52, 56, 58, 59, 60
limitations 58
overview 54–5
in pluralist and assimilationalist regimes 124 and policy complexity 56–8 restrictive 55, 57, 60 studies on role of 52–3 Switzerland 55, 57–8, 60
as synonymous with citizenship regimes 53 widely used classification 55 citizenship praxis 313 citizenship regimes creating ‘otherness’ 23 and ‘de-ethnicisation’ or ‘re-ethnicisation’ of citizenship 204 defining under which conditions immigrants can be recognized as residents 23
definition 21
Germany’s historical 348 impact on migrants’ political participation 258, 260–261, 263 inclusion policies and modalities to acquire citizenship as part of 28 as legal norms, laws, policies and ideas of place where migrants settle 204 and principle of jus soli 124 public philosophies underpinning 21–2 role in moderating relationship between intermediate structures of mobilization and migrants’ political actions 261–3 scope depending on sovereign decision of democratic community 27 space as important element of 41 see also citizenship models citizenship rights basing access on residents rather than nationality 218 change through mobilization of residents 32 economic aspect to 146 and emergence of social rights 224 and emergence of welfare schemes 232 gap with citizenship acts 328 gender perspectives on 236–47 gendered and racialized construction of 180 for immigrants and asylum seekers 183–8 integration as way to ‘earn’ host country 142 integration policy indices covering 71 legal immigrants entitled to subset of 186 local 336
migrants gaining access to 140 and migrants’ position in global labour market 144 minorities as disadvantaged despite formal 23 public support for excluding immigrants from 124 renewal of debate on 367 for second-class citizens 182–3, 335 social democratic theory 179 social protection of 223–34 state-backed 181 states enacting as universalistic entitlements 182 upwardly mobile minorities advocating 188 citizenship theories facing challenge of human rights theory 181, 189 foundational 178–80, 188–9 plurality of 31
problems with 181
civic equality 2
civic integration 357, 395, 398 Civic Integration Index 72
civic integrationist policies 59 civic integrationist turn 29–30, 53 civil society 107, 112, 179, 347, 353, 355–6, 357 civil society organizations 31, 182, 239, 361, 368, 370 class voting 286 collective actions and ‘acts of citizenship’ 326 for and against asylum 320 and control and undermining of markets 143
definition 254
duration of 306
factors shaping 260–261
and framing 279
group boundaries facilitating 259 lack of time to engage in 308, 311 and refugees 263, 322–3 relationship with organizational networks 262 as strategy for stigmatized 183 communitarianism backlash 187, 188
and community 324
versus cosmopolitanism 286, 318, 319 innovative milieus characterized by anarchic 367 and migrant city-dwellers 363 and restrictive protests 324, 327 theory 179–80
communities of character 26 community
bounded egalitarian 142–3 bounded territoriality as sine qua non for defining 349 citizenship as belonging to 135, 272, 324 collective level 262–3
and communitarianism 324
holistic national 354
‘imagined’ 144, 166, 379
Internet and social media offering opportunities for building 275 loyalty to 165–7, 168, 171, 224 and membership 26, 137, 324, 325 Muslim women’s activism 264 national and political 26, 119–21, 128, 130 ‘parallel’ 173
pre-capitalist ties 138 protests expanding boundaries of 326 right to decide who to admit and who to exclude 33 in search of 110 social cohesion within 149–62 as ‘societal culture’ 400 tendency to improve sense of 58 understanding of 324
virtuous 353
see also political community complexity challenge of capturing 37–47 Covid-19 pandemic bringing further 47 in human mobility and transnational ways of life 237 incorporating into diversity studies 399–400 industrial city losing spatial 364 of intersection between citizenship and migration 39, 41–5, 46–7 of migrant economic integration 135 modelling to address selection bias 70 of party systems 386 policy 56–8
country-level variation 276–7 critical discursive social psychology (CDSP) 84, 88, 96 data upgrade 66–71, 75
Declaration of Human Rights (1789) 340, 342 democratic integration 30–32 democratic values 5, 29–31, 394 denied citizenship 110, 183, 339–40 DENK 285, 295–9
Denmark
accession to EU 215
alien suffrage 200
border controls 217
Danish People’s Party 378, 379, 381–2, 384–5 disjoint between policy and public opinion 124
dissociation between nationality and citizenship 335–6 eligibility requirements 232–3 immigrant political parties 296 membership of ethnic organizations 257 migrant penalties 227
path to naturalization 197
public attitudes towards granting citizenship and extending rights to immigrants 126–7 spatial dispersal policy 67–8
written citizenship tests 188
deproduction 319–20, 321, 322–3, 325–6, 327, 328, 380, 383 ‘devaluation’ thesis 201–3 diaspora
digital 69 emergence of enfranchisement 205 governance 74
mobilization homeland 310, 312, 313
non-electoral 309
networks 104
participation from abroad 306 communication technologies facilitating 306–7 separation from immigrant participation 308 quasi 345
reservation of parliamentary seats for 304 difference, politics of 150–152 discourse on asylum seekers 58 citizenship and migration changing over time 45, 380 dual aim of analysis 85 Greek interview analysis 88 of ‘earned privilege’ 247 and social psychology 83–4 discrimination of EU citizens, examples 220 fighting against 305, 337 French perceptions of 305 and generational status 42 group-based 59, 60, 158, 287, 292 immigration and citizenship policy continuing to produce 56 new forms of 110, 130 ‘reverse’ 216–17
and strategies of social closure 258 transmission of feelings of 161 triggering mobilization 256 and unequal rights 367
discursive opportunities 259, 273, 276–7, 279, 325, 353–4 discursive psychology (DP) 83, 85–7, 88, 97 discursive social psychology 84, 96 diversity categories not to be imposed on people 400 combating diversity-related discrimination 398 complexity of 399
in context 390
growing radicalism against 395 intercultural citizenship policy paradigm for new context of 396–7, 401 and multicultural citizenship 391–4 in post-multicultural era 394, 396 seen as ‘other’ 396
super-diversity 394, 399–400 double citizenship 337–8
economic citizenship complex relationship with inclusive migrant integration 135 migrants caught between national citizenship and 144–5, 146 as problematic concept 145–6 requiring right to engage in market citizenship 136 economic integration
aspects with bearing on social cohesion 157
context 135–6
cultural diversity regarded as obstacle to 274 earning citizenship through integration 139–42 industrial citizenship 142–3 market integration programmes shifting focus to 140 migrants caught between national and economic citizenship 144–5, 146 and temporary migration 139
valorisation of migrants as market citizens 137–8 see also integration; migrant integration elections
electoral abstention 304 electoral behavior empirical evidence 289–94 theories 285–9
immigrant parties 294–9
mobile EU citizens 309
PRR party 380–385, 395
size of immigrant electorates in national 284–5 elites 347, 353, 355–6, 370, 376, 380, 383–4 emigrants distinction with immigrants 194, 308 engagement in homeland politics 308–9, 310, 313
franchise 197–201, 203
non-electoral mobilization 306
and normative theories 201–3 research on participation 195 retaining nationality 196 sending countries allowing external voting 304 social media mobilization channels 306–7 as tourists 204, 206
transnational engagement 313
voting rights 201–3, 205
empirical perspectives on citizenship and migration 37–47
overview 5
empirical research additional refinements 40–41
context 38
emerging complexities 41–5 evidence on immigrants’ voting behavior 289–94 main approaches 39–40 methodological challenges 45–6 need to grasp opportunities 47 network analysis 68–9 enfranchisement see franchise environmentally displaced persons 339 epistemological citizenship 352, 354, 356–7 as multilevel phenomenon 210 precarious status 140
rise of 216–18
developing sovereignty to 351 ‘ethnic exclusionism’ 124–5 experimental research 67
irregular migrant population 198 outgroup status 287
political participation 307
share of undocumented population 228, 231 standards for ‘successful integration’ 232–3 uncertain legitimacy 355 ‘excess of alterity’ 24 experimental research 67–8, 75, 83
extra-territorial citizenship 73

‘feminization of migration’ 40–41 framing
access issue 271–2 arena variation 275–6
and citizenship 272
considered as strategic activity 269 constraints 269, 271, 280
context 269–71
country-level variation 276–7
definition 271
immigration 272–80
interactions 278
media framing 272–4, 279–80 participation and mobilization 279 policy effects 278
political and policy arena 274 public opinion effects 278–9 social media 275
temporal variation 277

France
agreement to eliminate border controls 217
alien suffrage roots traced back to 200 assimilationist regime 124, 170
asylum seekers 338

European Commission
2015 refugee crisis 219
citizenship 216–17
and free movement 214, 215, 217 monitoring compliance 219 report against racism and intolerance 396

European Parliament
Civil Liberties, Justice and Home Affairs Committee 220
Common Assembly as precursor 214
elections 309
voting rights 198

Italian coal and steel workers in 214

Marco Giugni and Maria Grasso - 9781789903133
Downloaded from Elgar Online at 02/20/2022 12:50:32AM
via free access
as large immigration-receiving country 75
laws challenging republican tradition 106 Le Front National 118, 378, 379–85 legislation on ‘ostentatious signs’ in public places 171, 173
local reactions against immigration 111 migrants
associational membership 307
as former colonial subjects 174, 290
penalties 226–7
political claims-making 258
protest mobilization 304–5, 306, 322
without long-term residence status 230
mode of representation 199 ‘moral statistic’ for 363 mounting forces of far-right populism 351 myth of autochthony 337 nationals but not citizens in 336 public attitudes towards granting citizenship and extending rights to immigrants 126–7
Second World War border changes 212 source countries of immigrants to 213 terrorist attacks 219
visa programmes 141
voting behavior 289–90, 297
franchise
evolution of 196–7, 205
expansion of comparative analysis 199–201 consequences 205
to non-citizen residents 197–8, 204 to non-resident citizens 198–9 normative principles applied to 202–3 shedding light on ‘devaluation’ thesis 203 free movement
barriers remaining 217–18
and Brexit 106, 219
conflict with self-determination 185 European Commission’s White Paper 217 European origin of 213–15 internal and external challenges 220 limitations of right of 218 link to democracy 216 restrictions relating to Covid-19 pandemic 218 and reverse discrimination 216–17 West Indians 45
full citizenship 122, 140, 182, 299, 369 gender
context 236–8
and Covid-19 pandemic 245–6, 248 gender equity in immigration policy 247 gendered and racialized labour markets 244–5 gendering citizenship outcomes for immigrants 242–4
meta-narratives 238–42
generational status 42
Germany
access to benefits 232–3
adoption of more liberal policies 109 agreement to eliminate border controls 217
asylum seekers 103, 220, 229, 338
Berlin Wall 215
claims-making 273
closed political context 261 citizens without being nationals 341 democracy
link to 216
restrictions relating to Covid-19 pandemic 218
free movement
and Brexit 106, 219
dissociation between nationality and
citizenship 335–6
dissociation between nationality and
citizenship 335–6
globalization of migrations and consequences for citizenship 334–5 transnational citizenship 336–7, 341
transnational citizenship 336–7, 341 citizenship, concept in evolution 344–5 civic identity and civic practice 343–5 historical background of citizenship 340 legal status of nationality 342–3 local political rights 343 nationals but not citizens 341 globalization definition 358 multiple forms of negotiations of citizenship denizens 339–40
double citizenship 337–8
environmentally displaced persons 339
illegals 340
refugees 338
statelessness 339
glue metaphor 154–5, 156 granting (or gaining) citizenship see citizenship acquisition Greece
ad hoc welfare services 225 affordances made for immigrants’ status 86 arrival of refugees 219 associational membership 307
and border controls 217
estimated share of nationals with migration background in 285 and immigrant rights 200 impact of wars 211
labour migration from 213, 215
migrant penalty in accessing public pension 227 model of citizenship 2 numbers of refugees and asylum seekers in 220, 229 oral citizenship tests 188 Greece study analysis 88–9, 96
background and context 87
becoming and feeling Greek as difficult for migrants 89–91, 96 citizenship acquisition in theory and practice 94–5 insights from 96–7
meaning of citizenship and functional everydayness 92–4 in Greek language 87–8 right to citizenship 91–2 human rights
during 1970s 348–9
accountability of states to norms of 351 and admission question 26–7 depending on top-down practice of policies in public sphere 357 disregard for 240–241
at end of Cold War 106
growth of norms in discourse 355 hindrances to 139
humanitarianism preventing infringements 356 international 120, 139, 237 and MC paradigm 391, 394–6 versus nation-state citizenship 236 possibly hampering harsh policies in public sphere 353 proliferation of legislation 224 sanctuary cities following perspective of 369 theory 181, 186, 189
as universal 319
see also Declaration of Human Rights (1789); Universal Declaration of Human Rights Human Rights Watch 180, 184
Hungary 118, 125, 126–8, 128, 131, 188, 211, 219–20, 229, 290, 347, 351 ideal theory 27, 33
Identitarian Movement 323–4
identity
citizenship as 22–3, 42
civic 341, 343–5
construction of 85
as discourse of political elite 370
dual 92
ethnic 96, 107, 110
frozen view of 397
national 24–5, 26, 86, 122, 123, 395–6 psychological perspective 363
worker 143
identity debate 392, 395–6, 399–400 identity politics
and citizenship 105–12
domestication based on national 168 illegal immigrants 40–41, 44, 106, 130, 186–7, 260, 334, 340 immigrant policy 3, 241
immigrants
attitudinal research comparative perspective 121–3 on granting citizenship and extending rights to 123–5 citizenship acquisition as market for life chances 128, 130 citizenship for 183–8 distinction with emigrants 194, 308
franchise 197–201, 202–3
gendering citizenship outcomes for 242–4
from immigrant to policy category 168–72
and normative theories 201–3 patterns and trends in public attitudes on citizenship acquisition and rights extension 125–8 principle of competence 205 scholarship on political participation 195, 205

social protection 223–34

as vagabonds 204–5, 206

voting behavior

empirical evidence on 289–94

immigrant parties 294–9

proportion of total electorate in Europe 284–5 theories of 285–9

see also illegal immigrants; legal immigrants; migrants; Muslims; undocumented immigrants

immigration

attitudinal research towards 121–3

and citizenship 119–21

framing

causes of variation 275–7

constraints 280

content 272–5, 279–80

interactions and effects 278–9

strained relationship with populism and citizenship 377–9

see also migration

immigration policy

distinction with immigrant policy 3 effects 278

and far-right populist parties 276–7 and female-dominated occupations 242, 243 gender equity in 247

in Japan 43–4

and neoliberalism 239–40

nexus with citizenship 187, 239 preference for liberal 286, 291 immigration politics

framing perspective on 105, 269–80 social change as driving 110–111

inclusion 28–30

indices

citizenship-related 71–2, 75 shortfall of 55

use of 54–5

industrial citizenship 136, 142–3, 146

integration

(b)ordering perspective on 58–60

citizenship and nationality not always linked with 343

Civic 357, 395, 398

as condition for gaining residence permit 29

‘contesting’ 29, 378

definition 33

democratic 30–32

Dutch policy 164, 274

earning citizenship through 139–42 and economic status 145

European 105, 124, 130, 216, 293

post-war origins 213–15, 220

in France 341, 350, 383

gendered notions of capabilities for 246

in Greece 94, 97

Hispanic 188

as issue touching on nation’s roots and characteristics 165

Muslim 165, 167–70, 172–4, 352

national and post-national membership approaches 86

‘national integration strategy’ 56 and naturalization 29, 67, 97, 120, 341 often described as ‘one way process’ 54

‘philosophy of’ 379, 382

pinnacle of 66

policy indices 71–2

and PRR parties 376, 377–8, 379, 382, 385 proliferation of requirements 204–5 regarded as responsibility of immigrants 236 of religion into society 168–9 social and political 23, 52, 144, 146

‘successful’ 57, 86, 120, 233

in Switzerland 55, 57–8, 60

too restrictive policies 25 top-down and unilateral view of 30 see also economic integration; migrant integration; political integration intercultural citizenship (IC) and contact zones 398, 399

debate on 390–391, 401

policy paradigm for new context of diversity 396–7 premises of 390, 400

reaching level of consensus between society and politics 399

interculturalism

and multiculturalism 401

place in post-multicultural framework debate and beyond identity debate 398–400 intersections

balanced 350, 357

citizenship and migration 38–47, 59 doctrine of class, country of origin, ethnicity, gender and religion 56, 137 economic and identity 25 of racialized, gendered and impoverished otherness 236 between studies of diversity, migration and citizenship 390–401

Ireland 126–7, 141, 199, 210, 215, 217, 226–7, 243, 260

Islam

Bolkestein’s speech 164–5, 174
domestication of 168
education 171–2
fear of 103
populists cultivating for political gain 131, 396–7
framed as threat 274, 277, 338 image in Europe 167
‘Islamization’ 169–70
loyalty 172
as parallel society 173 ‘right of blood’ 337, 344
Israel
Egyptian and Syrian attack 215 ‘ethnic democracy’ 124 imigrant parties in 295, 296 role of religion 298
Italy
border controls 217
closed political context 261 demand for feminized workforce 244 estimated share of nationals with migration background in 285
experimental research 67
far-right populism in 351 free movement for workers 213–15
labour migration from 213
as large immigration-receiving country 75 male- and female-led migration 245
migrant penalties 226–7 migrants’ associational membership 307 migrants’ political claims-making 258
mode of representation 199
path to naturalization 197 perception of immigrants abusing welfare system 128
refugee crisis 219, 220
Roman model of citizenship 2
Second World War border changes 212 ‘settlement into mobility’ 334 voting 345
ithageneia (direct descent) 87, 88, 91, 92–3, 95 Japan absence of official recognition of migrants 43–4 attitudes toward foreign workers 68 ‘category mismatch’ 43–4 citizenship and local political rights 336 immigration control 107 points system 240
jus domicilie see rights of residence jus sanguinis see rights of blood jus soli see rights of the soil justice campaigns requiring recognition and distribution 248 citizenship regimes affecting 21 and equal treatment for members of society 158 global 26–7
migrant justice organizations 247 moral feelings of, as driving force of activism 326 moral requirements of 27
and multiculturalism 391–2
as neutrality 392
norms of 27
political 30
protesters often driven by 321 restoration of 32
in short-term process to gain citizenship 182 state sovereignty conditional on principles of 27 and too-restrictive immigration and integration policies 25 wrongs, citizenship as powerful principle to contest 31 justice constraints 5, 31 labour market gendered and racialized 244–5 and industrial citizenship 142–3
integration 141–2, 144–5, 146 role in valuing migrants 137 segmentation 136, 145
and temporary migration 139
labour rights 135, 137–9, 141–3, 144, 247 legal immigrants 106, 124–7, 130, 181, 186–7, 188 liberal conception of citizenship 2, 22–3, 352 liberal democracies
attitudes toward immigrants and immigration in 119–30 cultural minorities as disadvantaged within 23 extremist ideology as serious threat to 401 immigration as highly divisive issue in 24 key features of political and electoral landscape in 118 migration policy-making in 103–4 of nationalist populism 236 public philosophy of citizenship 32 subscribing to international protection regimes 319 voting as crucial in 14 liberal migration policies preference for 286, 291 seen as security threat 103 ‘liberal optimism’ 165, 174 liberal paradox 101
liberal regimes increased precarity and temporality of citizenship in 58 restrictiveness of 57 liberal values 26, 30, 184, 324, 394, 396 liberalism
and admission 26–7 approaches to citizenship 178–9 convergence 56
end of 101–2, 104, 112 fundamental political principles produced by 164–5 and identity politics 105–12
and inclusion 30–31, 59
and migration governance 103–4
and multiculturalism 391–6
and potential to perform active citizenship 325 principles in opposition to democratic principles 27–8, 30 resting on individualism 178, 180 and rights-based politics 104–5 ‘Schmitterian’ 324
see also neoliberalism ‘liberalization thesis’ 180 life-course perspective 66–7, 75
loyalty
concept of 165–7, 174, 353
diversity of, amidst growing mobility 399 divided, and multiple citizenships 73–5 dual 353
of Muslims in Europe 167–8, 172–4 oaths 395
political 196
and social rights 224
to state 383
Luxembourg 217, 226–7, 284–5 market citizenship economic citizenship requiring right to engage in 136 as foundational principle of contemporary capitalist society 138 and migrant rights 143, 144 and notion of ‘failed citizen’ 145
as problematic concept 145–6 reducing humans to atomistic bare units of labour 146 and substantive citizenship 138, 142 theoretical autonomy of 139 valorisation of migrants 137–8 media
framing 272–4, 276, 278
guided by unwritten rules and values 276 interactions and effects 278–9 logic 271–2, 275, 277
as political debate arena 269 potential to affect public opinion 271 social media 275, 278, 279, 306–7
membership
Australian-style 150–151
civic identity and civic practice 343–4
and community 324, 325
contested in national and political community 26, 119–21, 128, 130 as dimension of citizenship 2 ‘distribution’ of 26 duty upon immigrants to earn 322, 327 and migrant activism 325 migrants remaining connected to disputes about 154 and nationhood 319
overview 6–9
and protest 317, 327
recasting questions of 151 sensitivities of 149–50 support in struggles for 323 methodological approaches 4–5 see also qualitative methodological approaches; quantitative methodological approaches methodological challenges of empirical research 45–6 methods advances in quantitative 66–71 challenges 46
mixed-methods approach 379–86
overview 4, 6
migrant integration
civic integration policies positively influencing 59 convergence of policies 56
definition 52, 54
inclusive, as common policy objective 135 increasing juridification in law and policies 58 laboratories of 157–9 seen as occurring along spectrum or timeline 135–6
and social cohesion 61, 157–9
state’s performance on 61 Switzerland defining by specific criteria 60 understanding in terms of relation to national class hierarchies 146 see also economic integration; integration Migrant Integration Policy Index (MIPEX) 55, 230, 231 migrant-led protests 322–3, 326, 328 migrant rights access to
as based on market value 138 in globalizing labour markets 135 and time spent in host country 140 as closely correlated to class status 137, 146 deriving from domestic sources of law 106 earning ‘right to rights’ 143
and integration 140, 141, 142, 145–6
and market citizenship 143, 144 temporary migrants 139
migrants
caught between national and economic citizenship 144–5, 146
economic integration 135–46 gender perspectives on citizenship rights and social protection for 236–48 as market citizens 137–8 meaning and character of 37–8 political participation
electoral 254–64
non-electoral 303–14 ‘rights gap’ for 236 rights in cities 364–7 smuggling of 58, 104
see also immigrants; temporary migrants migration
admission 26–8
and citizenship rights 178–89 city renewal through 364 democratic integration 30–32
in European Union 218–20 experimental research 67–8, 75 globalization of, and consequences for citizenship 334–5
historical development in Europe 210–215
inclusion 28–30
and mobility 101–3
qualitative approaches 83–97
quantitative approaches 66–75 relationship with citizenship 1, 37, 66 citizenship as challenged by 333–7
intersection between 38–47, 59
as threat for citizenship 24–5 temporary 139, 229–30
see also empirical research; immigration migration governance dilemmas increasing acuteness 106 pictorial representation 102 and trade-offs 103–4 neoliberalism and authoritarian populism in 238–42
norms of justice principles 27 migration regime, global 26–7, 32 mobility and borders 59, 146
of business elites 37 challenging Marshall’s argument 369
and cities 361–4, 365, 371
complexity in 237
control often viewed as matter of democratic self-determination 319
currently pluralizing identities 400 different views of 335 diversity of loyalties amidst 399 and double citizenship 337
European 214, 218, 219, 231
extrinsic motivations for 70 globalization as factor in forms of 333 indicators 55
intergenerational patterns of 37 international mobility market 239 laws restricting 286
and market citizenship 138, 144
moment of 138–9, 146
new forms of forced 339 occupational 73 pandemic bringing increased monitoring of 47, 101
responses rejecting further restrictions of 317, 325
right to, contradicting link between citizen and state 337
and rights of migrant children 42
’settlement into’ 334
social 157, 159, 161, 188, 226
temporary 141
trends 101–3 mobility turn 366
mobilization
diaspora 309, 310, 312, 313
discrimination triggering reactive form of 256
and framing 279
intermediate structures of 261–3 migrant protest 304–5, 306, 322
non-electoral 306, 312
previous attempts in Western Europe 295–6 social media channels 306–7 multicultural citizenship (MC) in age of populism 399 continuities and change in 391–4 criticism of 400
debate on 390–391, 400
difficulties in incorporating new trends 399–400
disenchantment with 395 gaining legitimacy in Europe 337 neglect of duties 395–6 seeing diversity as ‘other’ 396 multiculturalism approaches to 393
concern about equality and power-sharing 399 contribution to homogenization of Moroccan culture 397 erosion of conditions of 393–4 and interculturalism 401 limits of boundless 394–6 as outcome of introducing diversity 391 place of interculturalism in post-multicultural debate 398–400
unease surrounding 396
multiple citizenships and belonging 366
and divided loyalties 73–4 as empirical research complexity 43 increasing global toleration 196 paucity of data on 75 Muslims
background and context 164–5
and body 173
Canadian 33
cross-national interest in literature 352 culturalization of citizenship 167, 169, 173
domestication of 167, 168–9
education 171–2
in Europe
divisive debates 107
from immigrant to policy category 168–72
loyalty 167–8, 172–4
parties in French elections 296 party representation 298 women seen as threat 241 having lower status in Western society 287 and Islam 167, 169–70
and multiculturalism 393
as negatively represented group 29 populist political parties stirring up prejudice against 397
rural bias 170–171
Trump’s ban 25, 104, 187 veiled women 173–4
women’s activism 264

nation-building 71, 120, 144, 165, 166, 169 national community versus citizenship 122, 130 citizenship as about belonging to 272, 324 contested membership in 26, 119–21, 128, 130 dark side of commitment to 120 defined as ‘societal culture’ 400 and ‘devaluation’ thesis 203 equality and solidarity at foundation of 348 and ‘good’ citizens 322 migrants in double-bind situation 205 migration posing challenge for 103
and national membership 119 politics countries apply to define who is part of 352

nationality
dissociation with citizenship in Europe 335–6 EU Member States laying down conditions for 218 franchise disconnected from 198 legal status in France 342–3
as necessary condition for voting rights 203, 204–5
non-citizen residents and non-resident citizens 197
and self-determination 211 Spanish national example 194 states allowing emigrants to retain 196 and Treaty of Paris 214 voting rights regardless of 216
naturalization
and accurate migration statistics 70 ‘anticipation effect’ 67 citizenship acquisition through 71, 124, 183, 189
criteria interpreted along assimilation– multicultural axis 377 ex post ‘created’ citizens 351 financial barrier 68 and formal citizenship 379
in France 341, 378
gap in knowledge about effect on voting choice 299
how local Greek people talk about 87–97 important role of 28
index (barrier to) 71
and jus soli 183–5
literature on 66–7 policies increasingly restrictive 28–9 policy having impact of political incorporation 336
and political preferences 293–4 populist parties 377, 378–9, 383–6 process in Canada, US, Germany and Switzerland 181
and public attitudes 128, 130, 179 as sine qua non condition for successful integration 120
in social protection model 225
in United States 108–9 Western constraints of 187–8 neoliberalism concept of citizen as self-reliant and responsible 323
emphasis on ‘impact’ 85 expanding rights and increasing inequality 178–9
and gender differences 12, 244–6, 247–8 goals of effectiveness and performance 355 impact on social benefits 247

Marco Giugni and Maria Grasso - 9781789903133
Downloaded from Elgar Online at 02/20/2022 12:50:32AM
via free access
and migration governance 238–42
and NGO activities 356
privileging immigrant men 242 völkisch model shaken by 350 see also liberalism

Netherlands
access to benefits 232–3
adaptations in relation to migration 350
agreement to eliminate border controls 217
alien suffrage 200
citizenship
dissociation between nationality and 335–6 granting to children of immigrants 125 and immigration as highly contested in 106–7 education of Muslims 171–2
estimated share of nationals with migration background in 285
ethnic associations 260–261 high-skilled worker tax break in 141 immigrant party (DENK) 285, 295–9 immigration history 210, 212 immigration of Muslims to 164–5 local elections controversy 166 migrants
penalties 226–7
protest mobilization 304–5, 306
temporary 139
without long-term residence status 230
mounting forces of far-right populism 351
path to naturalization 197
political and policy arena 274
populist party 379, 381
public attitudes towards granting citizenship and extending rights to immigrants 125–7 as source country of immigrants to Germany 213 ‘threat’ framing 273
voting behavior 289, 292, 295–9
women wearing face veil 174 written citizenship tests 188

networks
diasporic 336
flexible city 364
immigrant 289
informal 247, 263, 305 migrant 68–9, 121, 262–3, 312, 337 multiple 353
and ‘parallel community’ 173 personal 68–9, 247, 326 protest 321, 324, 326
role of organizational 257–8, 262, 263

social 110, 157, 237, 311
support 104, 243
transnational 69, 104, 172–3, 247, 334, 354 non-citizen residents 72, 195, 197–8, 203, 204, 224 non-citizenship authorized and unauthorized forms of 242 legal and undocumented 186–7
non-electoral mobilization 306, 312 non-electoral participation 305–6, 308, 312 non-electoral political activities 293, 304–5, 306, 307, 314 non-resident citizens 73, 195, 197, 198–9, 200, 203 normative conceptions of citizenship 5, 21, 31, 33 of deservedness 52
of justice 391–2 normative debate of ‘nation’ 352 normative foundations of citizenship 136 normative multiculturalism narrative 394–6 normative perspectives
admission 26–8
citizenship as contested category 22–4
context 21–2
democratic integration 30–32
inclusion 28–30
migration as threat for citizenship 24–5 normative divides 25
overview 5

ontological dimension of citizenship 349–52, 357 open border view 26–7, 28, 179, 181, 186 outgroup status 74, 125, 273, 285, 286–7, 292, 298–9

parliament framing in 271, 274, 276 governed by policy-oriented logic 276 with highest hurdles for migrants to gain access 275
as political debate arena 269, 274, 279 participation see political participation pension benefits 138, 227, 234, 240 personhood 182–3, 189, 223, 348 phenomenological dimension of citizenship 352–4, 357 Poland 125–7, 139, 211, 212, 213, 219–20 policy complexity 56–8 policy legacies, effect of 44–5 political community citizenship delineating membership in 2, 210 contested membership in 26, 119–21, 128, 130
and critical citizenship studies 325 emigrants’ full and equal membership 204 migration-related protests 319 standards of determining who is part of 23 political integration into citizenship 22, 31 eviong democratic scope of 32 of ethnic minorities, theories of 158 expression of political voice 30 networks among organizations as channels of 257–8, 263
and political opportunity structures 258, 261 political opportunity structure (POS) 258, 260–262, 312
political participation constraints and opportunities 258–9 as dimension of citizenship 2
and framing 278–9
laboratory of 158 micro-level factors affecting 256 by migrants
avenues for future research 312–14
context 254
examination of 255–6 explanatory framework for 310–312 factors affecting 256–9 impact of citizenship regimes 258, 260–261, 263
levels of, across groups and polity types 308–10
non-electoral 305–6, 308, 312
reduced capacity for 120 types of 303–8 opportunity for, as key component of citizenship 270
overview 12–15
and political disengagement 87 protest as form of direct 317 role of citizenship regimes in moderating relationship between mobilization and migrants’ political actions collective level 262–3
individual level 261–2 role of organizations and their networks 257–8 solidarity protests 320–322
understanding of 325
via Internet and social media 275 Yarl’s Wood protests 260, 264 political parties far-right 118, 278–9, 394–5, 397 framing of immigration 272–3, 275, 278–9 immigrant 294–9
immigrants facing obstacles to joining 304 individualism constrained by 179 as split into right and left 183–4 political rights aliens’ 200, 201, 341
and citizenship 336, 343
French local 343 integration as way to access 86 introduction of 9–10
juxtaposing with civil rights 349–50 Northern European local 335–6 political socialization 285, 287–8, 292, 298 political theory 26–7, 201, 357 politics
applied in defining who is part of national community 352
of difference 150–152
identity 105–12, 168
immigration 105, 110–111, 269–80 rights-based 104–5 populism
context 376–7
and framing 277
importance of citizenship and citizen to PRR 381–4
and migration governance 238–42 PRR’s understanding of citizenship and
citizen
and conceptualization of 381–4
identifying 379–80, 386
rise of 60, 120, 232, 395
and social protection 223, 232, 233 strained relationship with citizenship and
immigration 377–9
understanding of citizen 384–6 as widespread in Europe, America and Australia 112
populist radical right (PRR) citizen, importance of 381–6 citizenship and citizen culturalization of 381–4 identifying understanding of 379–80, 386 citizenship, importance of 381–4
context 376–7
ephasis on assimilation 376, 378, 379, 382, 384, 385, 386
forms of chauvinism 377–8 mainstreaming processes 378–9 ‘philosophy of integration’ 379, 382 role of nativism 377, 379, 386 post-multicultural era 394, 395–6, 401 post-multicultural framework debate 398–400 postnationalism
eliciting nexus between policy and civic eagments levels 357
flexible city 364, 367
and human rights 348–9, 351, 353, 355 membership approach 86, 109
migrant-led protests 322–3 postnational turn 203, 348, 353, 355 regarding citizenship 24, 120, 323, 351–2, 358 pro-migration protest 317, 320–324, 326, 327
protest
benefits and limitations 327–8 conceptualizing participation in 324–7 contextualizing 318–20
defining 317–18
pro- and anti-asylum 317, 320–324, 327
PRR see populist radical right (PRR) public attitudes
context 118–19
on granting citizenship and extending rights to immigrants and deservingness 121, 122, 130 patterns and trends in 125–8, 129
reinforcing status polarizations 130
research on 123–5
towards immigrants and immigration 121–3, 278–9
public philosophy of citizenship inclusion policies informed by 28
liberal democracies 32
plurality of views 21 public policy 150, 214, 347–8, 353–4, 355–7, 393 qualitative methodological approaches
context 83
discourse and social psychology 83–4 discursive approaches 84–5 discursive psychology 85–7 discursive, rhetorical and critical perspectives 83–4 focus of 4–5
to migration and citizenship demonstration 87–95
insights from 96–7
study of citizenship and migration critique and contribution to 84–5 in discursive psychology 85–7 quantitative methodological approaches based on norm of rationality 83
context 66
focus of 4
measurement 71–5
methods and data upgrade 66–71, 75 radical right 259, 277, 318 see also populist radical right (PRR) reciprocity 89, 154, 155, 194, 195, 198, 363
refugees
benefiting from protection 24
in Canada ‘bogus’ 241
female 243–4
regarded as ‘fiscal threats’ 240 civil rights-based policies 105 claimants of welfare 222, 228–31 ‘climate’ 339
European history 1960s and 1970s 215
current situation 218–20, 228, 277
during and after Second World War 211–12 in Netherlands 210
extreme forms of political mobilization 306 gendered patterns of displacement 242 group resources as crucial for collective actions by 263 Hungarian attitudes toward 131 integration through work 141
media framing 273, 275
and moral universalism 27 negotiation of citizenship 338 numbers of 102–3
path to citizenship 185–6 as pawns in geopolitical struggles 104 and ‘rights–markets dynamic’ 101 sanctuary cities providing refuge to 368–9 solidarity with 321 spatial dispersal policy 67–8
residence
as key criterion for establishing social entitlements 224 migrant activism pursuing permanent 247 new forms of EU citizenship focused on 335–6 ‘Undertaking of’ 380, 383 residence-based model as blueprint for Western welfare states 224 challenges to achieving equality in inequality among residents 225–8 inequality between residents and non-residents 228–31 political obstacles to enhancing immigrants’ social rights 231–3 comparison with citizenship-based model 225 future predictions for further inequalities 233–4 hierarchy of social protection in 230 questions regarding social protection 223 residence permits 39, 60, 223, 228, 229, 230–231, 233, 259 restrictionist protests 323–4 rhetorical approaches 83, 84, 88–9, 91, 93–4, 96–7 rhetorical psychology (RP) 83, 88, 96 rights in cities 367
citizenship as 22
and Covid-19 pandemic 101
as dilemma of migration governance 102
as dimension of citizenship 2 economics and social belonging 367 Index

at end of Cold War 106
flow from EU and international law 109 gap for migrants 236 individual 2, 8, 21, 108, 214, 258, 324 for migrants in cities 364–7
overview 9–12
and populist politicians 102
see also citizenship rights; human rights; labour rights; migrant rights; social rights; voting rights rights-based politics 104–5 rights extension changes of dignified life likely to increase due to 367
post World War II 105, 349
public attitudes towards
patterns and trends in 125–8, 129
reinforcing status polarizations 130
research on 123–5
rights–markets dynamic 101, 103, 104, 111 rights of blood (jus sanguinis) 28, 42, 56, 88, 97, 123–4, 125, 258, 336, 337–8, 342, 344, 379 rights of residence (jus domicile) 123–4, 187 rights of the soil (jus soli) 28, 42, 56, 87, 97, 123–4, 125, 180, 183–4, 336, 338, 342, 379 sanctuary cities 186, 348, 368–9 second-class citizenship 33, 182 Second World War see World War II
self-determination 26, 33, 185, 188, 210–211, 220, 319, 350
social cohesion
(b)ordering used to govern 59
context 149–50
and disproportional outcomes 161–2
in France 343
and interethnic interaction 159–61 metaphors for 154–6
and migrant integration 61, 157–9 as objective of integration 140 perspectives on 152–4 politics of difference 150–152 and segregation 363, 397 theorists’ concern for 109
social media 275, 278, 279, 306–7
social movements 182–3
social protection
versus basic social rights 370 citizenship-based model 224–5
context 223
evolution of 224–5
gender perspectives on 236–48
for highly-valued labour migrants 137 and liberalism 108 residence-based equality 225–34 transnational 236, 237, 247–8 social psychology discursive and rhetorical approaches 83–4, 97 discursive research in 86 discursive turn in 6, 83 social rights
decommodifying individuals through 136, 138, 140 determination in Western welfare states 225 emergence of 9, 202, 224 and ‘ethnic exclusionism’ 125 framing for expressing views on 272
and industrial citizenship 143 justice, equality and identity 392 as key dimension of citizenship 11 neoliberalism and populism limiting 178 political obstacles to enhancing 231–3 proliferation in urban context 369–70 residence as main criterion for establishing 224 self-organized protest to lobby for 322 solidarity protests
deservingness argument 322, 323 as double-edged sword 326 impact 328
as protest activity category 320–322 relevance of social ties and feelings inspiring mobilization 326
South Africa
and social cohesion 154 xenophobia prevalent in 44 sovereigntist agenda 347, 356 sovereigntist perspective 26, 348, 350
Spain 118, 125–8, 188, 194, 198, 213, 215, 219, 226–7, 285, 307, 310, 334 spontaneous welcome groups 368 stake in Greek case accountability for 96 argument by analogy moderating 95 hypothetical condition minimizing 94 managing dilemma of 89, 92, 97 statelessness 339
status
citizenship as 22
generational 42
street-level bureaucracy 57 street-level practices 53, 58 substantive citizenship 137, 138, 142 suffrage active and passive 304
alien 198, 200, 203
universal 195, 196–7, 205, 224
Switzerland
(b)ordering integration stage model 60 dissociation between nationality and
citizenship 335
electoral success of DENK 297 estimated share of nationals with migration background 285 ethnic organizations and resourcing political actions 261 exclusive and restrictive citizenship model 55
experimental research 67
external enfranchisement in regional elections 199 guest workers programme introduced in 33, 140 immigrant origin and vote choice 289–90, 292 immigration and citizenship highly contested in 106–7 inequalities in integration stage model 57–8, 59–60 levels of migrant protest mobilization 305 levels of migrants’ political claims-making 258 migrant penalty in accessing public pension 226–7 naturalization in 128, 181, 196–7, 201 public attitudes towards granting citizenship and extending rights to immigrants 126–7 spatial distribution of refugees 141 universal suffrage established in 10 teleological dimension of citizenship 354–6, 357
temporal variation 277
temporary migrants
in gendered and racialized labour markets 244–5 impact of Covid-19 pandemic 245–6 as increasingly numerous 223, 229–30 national governments hesitant to extend social rights to 231 population in Germany, United Kingdom and United States 231 in residence-based model 224–5, 228, 229–30, 233 in weak position for social protection 224, 229, 230, 232, 233 temporary migration 139, 229–30 theoretical perspectives concerning social impact of immigration 107 framing as 271
overview 3–6
threat
for citizenship 24–5
framing 271, 273, 274, 276, 277, 278, 279 perceptions of 74, 338, 377, 382–3 tourists 204, 206
transnational citizenship 72–3, 180, 187, 189, 336–7, 341
transnational engagement 313 transnational social protection 236, 237, 247–8 transnationalism and call detail records 70 as currently pluralizing identities 400 and extra-territorial citizenship 72–3, 75 and networks 69, 337, 354 paradox of 72 temporary migration legitimized by 139 undocumented immigrants absence of citizenship for 189 citizenship acquisition 186–7 as disturbing nation-states’ order 335 held captive 245
lack of support for 68 numbers in United States 106 penalties for 257, 259
political participation 306, 310, 314
population in Germany, United Kingdom and United States 231 as preferred target of vilification 120 priority for 247
residence model 223, 225, 228, 230–31, 233 sanctuary cities providing refuge to 368–9
in weak position for social protection 224 unemployment benefits 57, 138, 226–7, 229 United Kingdom
accession to EU 215
adaptations in relation to migration 350
assimilationist regime 124 belonging to associations 257 border controls 217
citizenship
conflation of national identity and 86
dissociation between nationality and 335–6 and immigration highly contested in 106–7 post-colonial 45 eligibility criteria 240
estimated share of nationals with migration background in 284–5 ethnic associations 260–261
exit from EU 217
fear of losing sovereignty 216
franchise 198
holding most foreign-born individuals 230–231 immigrant political parties 296
migrants
contentious report on 150
as former colonial subjects 174
intimidating environment, pre-Brexit 121 political claims-making 258
protest mobilization 304–5
without long-term residence status 230
and multiculturalism 393
points system 240
political and policy arenas 274 populist politicians 219, 232, 377, 379–85 post-war era 109
preserving ‘right of the soil’ 342 promoting argument of state multicultural failure 394–5 public attitudes towards granting citizenship and extending rights to immigrants 126–7 sanctuary cities 368
‘threat’ framing 273
visa programmes 141
voting behavior 289, 297
Windrush generation 45, 140, 212
written citizenship tests 188
United Nations High Commissioner for Refugees (UNHCR) 102, 184, 185, 339 Universal Declaration of Human Rights 11, 105, 185, 196, 211–12, 220 universal suffrage 195, 196–7, 205, 224 urban citizenship 41, 361, 367–70, 371 urban social policy 365–6, 368, 371 vagabonds 204–5, 206
voting behavior
avenues for future research 299
empirical evidence on 289–94
immigrant parties
in Israel 295
previous attempts at mobilization in Western Europe 295–6 question regarding 294–5 success of DENK 296–9
overview 284–5
theories of immigrant voting as class voting 286 outgroup status and discrimination 286–7 political socialization in sending countries 287–8 preference for liberal migration policies 286, 291 role of immigrant candidates 288–9
voting rights
context 195
enfranchisement 197–201, 205
in Europe 216, 264, 293, 295–7, 304, 340
as fundamental right of citizenship 284, 299 indicators 72
normative theories 201–3 residence-based 32, 198, 201 tourists and vagabonds 204–5, 206 universal suffrage and limits 196–7 vignette 194
welfare chauvinism 11, 15, 223, 232, 385 welfare state cities assuming role of 366 citizenship-based model 224–5 class struggles establishing 146 decline of traditional 369–70 and decommodification 138 Germany’s strong commitment to 112 growing costs of maintaining 187 inequality within Western 226–9 link with democracy 224
and multiculturalism 393
participatory 179
residence-based model as blueprint for 224 social rights determination in 225 welfare magnet theory 144 Western contexts, departures from 43–4 world see globalized world World War II
and aftermath in Europe 211–12, 220 border changes 212
rise of mass immigration after 150 ypikootita (being subject of) 87, 92–3