Index

Abbeglen, J.C. 28, 30

affect
- affective shift 186
- benefits of negative 185–6
- benefits of positive 184–5
- relationship with entrepreneurial and innovative behaviors 183–4
- role in creative thinking 182

Agile development model
- change from Waterfall model 116–19
- change in RE process 119–20
- definition 115
- growth in popularity 114
- project success rate 116
- research findings 130–135
- research framework 122–3
- role of SA in 120–122, 130, 134, 135–6
- study conclusions 135–6

Amabile, T. 31, 32

AMO model 142, 145, 154, 155, 156, 158

‘Andon’ 34–5

Apple 3, 27

As-is business process 99, 105
- aspiration, high 38, 42
- automation level 107
- automotive industry 7–8
  - see also Toyota Motor Corporation
- benchmarking 50
- best practices in NPD see new product development (NPD)
- BPM see business process management (BPM)
- brainstorming 53

Brazilian organizations
- HRM innovations 173–6
- innovation-focused HRM practices in 172–3
- methodology 171–2
- questionnaire sent to 180–181
- study conclusions and future research avenues 176–7

‘Bushi-do’ outlook 29

business competencies see competencies

business process
- To-be business process 106
  - defining 94–5
  - high-performance 109
- HRM for supporting strategic 168
- improvement
  - activities 105
  - continuous 108
  - implementing 100
  - incremental 102
  - recommendations 110
- As-is 105
  - Lean approaches for 102–3
  - overview 94–6
  - value creation linked with 100

business process management (BPM)
- benefits 98
- commonest approaches
  - BPR 100–102
  - CI 102–4
  - deciding between for sub-processes 106–8
  - integrated strategy 104–6
- core elements 97
- customer orientation 96–7
- definition 96
- lifecycle 98–9
- objectives 96
- and operational processes 95
- PEMM model for 109
- process innovation as driver of projects 93
- selecting method of 99–100
- strategic management connection 97–8

business process re-engineering (BPR)

...
Index

and CI

combination for value 111
deciding between for sub-processes 106–8
integrated strategy with 104–6 firm’s level of maturity 110 implementation challenges 102
implementation steps 101
nature of 100–101
uses of 94
business rules 107
business success
globalization and competition 58 Hybrid Prius factors 37–42 innovation for future 27
lean start-up for 33
licensing in China 17, 18, 20, 23–4
new technology for 4, 93 NPD for 8–9, 48–50, 51, 56 product innovation for 8, 59 response to competition 159
of Toyota Motor Corporation 28, 35–6 tracking 55–6
capability
firm 49–51
internal development 20–23, 25
strategic 161, 168
Capability Maturity Model (CMM) 108
China
Huawei 3–4
innovation management 7
innovation through technology licensing 16–23 maintaining competitive advantage 23–4
research 24–5
China Southern Railway (CSR) 21–2, 25
‘Choose Your Own Salary’ project background to 190
context for innovation 191
discussion questions 193
earned money and taxes data 195
implementation 191–2
inspiration for 191
letter to employees 194
results of 192–3
success of 193
Christensen, C.M. 31, 32–3
CI see continuous improvement (CI)
co-patenting 19, 24
collaboration
Agile 118
external 13, 22
in Japanese automotive industry 39, 41, 42 local (China) 7, 18–20, 22, 23
for requirements engineering processes 120 commitment
to innovation 31
to lifetime employment 32
senior management 110
communication
in Agile model 120
innovation-focused HRM 172–3, 174, 176, 180
senior management 110
systems analyst 125, 126, 127–8, 129, 132–3, 134, 136 community, sense of 28, 31, 33
competencies
for Agile project management 118 consolidating through indigenous innovation 21–2 extending through strategic diversification 22–3 in HRM innovation denominations 174 ‘people’ 123, 127–9
strengthening through strategic licensing 20–21
of systems analysts 122–3, 127–30, 131–6 competition
competitor knowledge 50
e-HRM 146–7, 160–161
global companies and China 23–4 ‘idea’ 13
increased 9, 58, 72, 160
NPD to edge out 8, 48
for talents 144
competitive advantage
innovation to achieve 1, 5, 8, 95 innovative e-HRM for leveraging 162 maintaining in China 23–4 market-based learning as source of sustainable 50 workforce as element for achieving 159 corporate knowledge 50
corporate strategy 54–5
consumer adoption definition 59
consumer perception
attitudinal impact 59, 60–63, 64–6, 67, 69
conceptual model development 60–62
design and functional innovations, role of 59–60 at heart of successful product innovation 58
main findings 65, 69
managerial implications 67–9
methodology 62–3
normative impact 60–61, 67
product innovativeness and its adoption 59–60
results 63–5
study discussion 65–7
subjective norm 60–61, 64, 65, 67
contingency plans 56
continuous improvement (CI) and BPR
combination for value 111
deciding between for sub-processes 106–8
integrated strategy with 104–6
concept 102–4
for incremental process innovations 93–4 Japanese management characteristic 31, 33, 34
see also Kaizen
continuous R&D 41, 42
corporate innovation strategy 7 creativity components of 32
culture and environment as likely to produce 33 impact of decreased 185 influence of organizational culture 186 positive affect related to 184 related to firm-level innovation 184 research into role of affect 182 cross-functional teams (CFTs) 51–2, 118 cross-licensing 24
cultural mentality (Japanese) 28–30, 42
culture
basic (Toyota) 41
BPM-supportive 97
corporate 27, 32, 35–6
innovation management 31–3, 34
organizational 49, 102, 104, 111, 142–3, 174, 186 process-oriented 96, 109, 111 valuing change 109
customer knowledge 50–51
customer orientation 96–7
customer service 53
decision-making
by consensus 30–31
data-driven 159, 160 Japanese characteristics 39
obeya activity enabling 41, 42 systems analysts 124, 129, 130–131, 133 design innovation
determining consumer decisions to adopt products 58–9 vs functional innovation 62, 66–9
methodology 62–3
moderating effect of 66, 69
originality related to 58 purchase intention and willingness to pay 69 relation to consumer aesthetic standards 66
results 63–5
role of 59–60
strong impact on consumer perception 59
study discussion 65–6
see also product design diet and exercise approach 102–3 disruptive innovation 32–3, 76
DMAIC cycle 104, 105
Drucker, P.F. 30, 31–2
e-compensation 144, 149–50, 156–8, 160, 161
e-core HRM 142–3, 147, 153–4, 159–60, 161
e-HRM
benefits and challenges 160–162
core premise 140
emergence 141
findings 146–53
main goals 142
managerial implications 159–60
methodology
  list of respondents 166
  research context and sample 145–6
  research instrument 146
  value creation 144–5
operational domain 142–3, 153–4, 161, 162
relational domain 143–4, 154–8, 161
strategic-transformational domain 144, 159, 161, 162
e-learning 143, 147, 148–9, 151, 156, 159–60, 161
e-performance management 144, 149, 158, 160, 161
e-recruitment and selection 143, 147–8, 154–5, 160, 161
e-training and development 143, 148–9, 155–6, 161
e-workforce analytics 145, 150–151, 159, 160, 161, 162
Eight Step Problem Solving 34
Elimination of Muda 35
emotional climate 182, 186
emotions
  managerial implications 186
  negative 185–6
  positive 184–5
  research into 183–4
  research questions 182–3
engineering
  entrustment to 39–40
  Toyota Motor Corporation 37–42
  Waterfall model for 116–17 entrepreneurial behavior benefits of negative affect 185–6 benefits of positive affect 184–5 increasing attention paid to emotions 182–3
  research into 183–4
  study conclusions 186
external collaboration
  for consolidation of core
  competencies 22
  as critical element 13
external party, dependence on 106 financial performance in telecommunications
    choice of variables 77–9
    data analysis 83–4
    data and descriptive statistics 79–83, 90–91
    financial measures 72–3
    future research suggestion 87
    limitations 86
    managerial implications 85–6
    research background 73–7
    results and discussion 85
    study conclusions 86–7
Fintech companies 114
firm capabilities 49–51
firm culture 49
  see also organizational culture
Flow Kaizen 103
formalization 21
full-time equivalents (FTE) 107
functional innovation characteristics 60
  consumer preference for 68 vs design innovation 62, 66–9 determining consumer decisions to adopt products 58–9
  methodology 62–3
  moderating effect of 66, 69
  purchase intention and willingness to pay 69
  results 63–5
  role of 59–60
  study discussion 65–6
furniture case study
  attitudinal impact 59, 60–63, 64–6, 67, 69
  conceptual model development 60–62
  design and functional innovations,
  role of 59–60
  main findings 65, 69
  managerial implications 67–9
  methodology 62–3
  normative impact 60–61, 67
  product innovativeness and its adoption 59
  reasons for selection 58–9
  results 63–5
subjective norm 60–61, 64, 65, 67
G21 Project 37–8, 40
Genchi-genbutsu (style) 34, 35
global business
  and China 23–4
  and e-HRM 142, 143, 145, 150, 151, 154–5, 157, 162
importance of innovation 8 importance of technology 3, 140 importance of telecommunications industry 73
  and NPD 8, 48
global financial crisis 43, 81, 82 governance 97, 109, 110
Huawei 3–4
human resource innovation management 10–12 human resource management (HRM) AMO model 142, 145, 154, 155, 156, 158
  and innovation
    challenges 176–7
    configurations 168–9
    innovation-focused practices 172–3
    means 175
    research interest in 167
innovations
  complexity of 176
  denominations 174
  findings 173–6
  and management innovations 176–7
  methodology 171–2, 180–181
  researcher analysis 170 transformation of functions 141–4
UPS Lithuania 191
Hybrid Prius
development 37–42
  first development outline 38
innovation management system 41–2
prime managerial factors 38–42
stamina of engineers 39–40 incremental business process
  improvement 102
incremental innovation 49, 73, 93–4, 95, 100, 103, 110–11, 171
incremental strategy approach 6–7 indigenous innovation 21–2 industry knowledge 50
information systems (IS) development changes in models, processes and roles 115–22
  research findings 122–9
  study conclusions 135–6
  study discussion 129–35
information technology (IT) BPR approach 94
  business role 10
  as core BPM element 97
  rapid development of 140
innovation
  to achieve competitive advantage 1, 5, 8, 95
  dimensions of 73–4
  HRM perspective on 167–77,
    180–181
  Japanese top ten 28, 29
  link with financial performance
    data analysis 83–4
    data and descriptive statistics 79–83, 90–91
    future research suggestion 87
    limitations 86
    in literature 73, 75–7
    managerial implications 85–6
    relevant financial variables 75, 77–9
    results and discussion 85
    study conclusions 86–7
    planning for 51–3
    relating HRM to different types of 168–9
    through technology licensing 16–23
innovation management
  critical elements 12–14
  current interest in 2
  four perspectives 3–4
  human resource 10–12
  integrated framework 4–5
  Japanese culture of 31–3, 34 process 9–10
  product 8–9
  research questions 4
  strategy 6–8
theories 31–3, 34
innovation maturity 108–10
innovative behavior
  increasing attention paid to emotions 182–3 negative affect benefits 185–6 positive affect benefits 184–5
  research into 183–4
  study conclusions 186
innovative management see UPS Lithuania
integrated framework 4–5
investment in people
  critical element 12–13
  Toyota Motor Corporation 42–3
Japan
  cultural mentality 28–30, 42 economy 27
  innovation management culture 31–3, 34 innovation top ten 28, 29 management characteristics 30–31, 32
  post-World War II period 28–31
  Toyota Motor Corporation case 33–43
  Ji-kotei-kanketsu 34
  Jido-ka 33, 34–5, 36
  Just in Time (JIT) 33, 34–5, 36
  Kaizen 31, 33, 34, 35–6, 103
  see also continuous improvement (CI) Kanban system 35, 118
knowledge
  change in requirements for SAs 125–6 competitor 50
  customer 50–51
  industry 50
knowledge base 18, 21, 24
knowledge centre, centralized 110–111 Lasas, Vladas 190–191, 194 lead users/nonusers 53
Lean
  methodology 102
  types of approaches 102–3
lean management 21
  Lean Six Sigma 103–4
  lean start-up 33
learning
  in China 7, 21, 23, 24
  in Japan 30, 31, 33
  market-based 50
  rational approach 29–30
  robotics and machine 101
  for systems analysts 134
  see also e-learning
learning organization 12–13, 31 ‘leveling’ 33–4
lifetime employment 28, 30, 32, 33
liposuction approach 102–3 Lithuania see e-HRM; furniture case study; UPS Lithuania local collaboration 7, 18–20, 22, 23 management characteristics (Japanese) 30–31, 32
management innovation
  definition 170
  findings 172–3
  human resources 173–6
  human resources-related factors as determinant to 167
  Hybrid Prius success factors 37–42
  methodology 171–2, 180–181
  realms
    and complexity of 170–171
    means of 173–6
    recommendations 176–7
    relating HRM to 169, 176
managerial implications
  consumer perception 67–9
  e-HRM 159–60
  emotions 186
  financial performance in telecommunications 85–6 requirements engineering 134
market readers 7
Maslow, A.H. 32, 33
McKinsey 7S framework 35–6 methods 97
middle management, entrustment to 39–40, 42 multinational companies study see e-HRM need seekers 7
negative affect 185–6
new product development (NPD) benefits to investing in 67–8, 69
definition 48
foundations 48–51
many approaches to 56
planning for innovation 51–3
product development 53–6
new products
  attitudinal and normative routes 61, 67 benefits of design and function 60 consumer adoption 59
design enabling assessment of 60 as driver of adoption intentions 58
as driver of competitive advantage 3, 93 effect on financial performance 75, 77 perceived product innovativeness 61–2, 66, 67–8
vs standard products 64
NPD see new product development (NPD)

obeya activity 40–41, 42
Ono, Taiichi 33, 35, 36, 40
operational e-HRM domain 142–3, 153–4, 161, 162 Operational Excellence Maturity Level (OEML) 109–10 operational innovation 95–6, 109 opportunity identification 53–4, 185 optimization 21, 40–41, 42, 103
optimization tools 108, 110
organizational culture 49, 102, 104, 111, 142–3, 174, 186 organizational innovation see management innovation ossification 21

patenting
  affecting financial performance 79–80, 83–7
technology licensing, China 16–17, 24, 25 telecommunication companies 74, 76–8, 81, 82–7, 91 people, as core element of BPM 97 people competencies 123, 127–9 Poka-yoke 34
positive affect 184–5
practice-based strategy 7 principles
  BPM 97
  clear and guiding 38
  of Japanese management 30–31
  Lean 103
  Toyoda’s five main 36, 40, 41
process analysis 99
Process and Enterprise Maturity Model (PEMM) 108–9 process discovery 99
process identification 98–9 process implementation 99 process innovation
  centralized knowledge centre 110–111
  as driver of BPM projects 93 framework for approaches 106–8 as ‘getting things right’ 12
HRM practices in Brazilian organizations 172–3, 180
implementation 96, 97–8, 100, 106
incremental 93–4, 95, 100, 103
integrated model 104–6
maturity level and approaches 109
modelling 106
nature of 95
optimization tools and analytics, use of 108 success factors 108–11
toolkit 99–108
types of 95–6
using BPM framework 96–9
process innovation management 9–10 Process Kaizen 103
process monitoring and control 99 process redesign
  in BPM lifecycle 99
  fear as barrier to 102
  Lean principles 103
product adoption 58–9, 61, 65–9 product design see design innovation
product development 53–6
product feedback 54–5
product innovation
  approaches to determining 74
design vs functional 63–4 as driving performance and growth 58
as driving performance and operations 59 financial variables closely linked to 75 as ‘getting right things’ 12
HRM practices in Brazilian organizations 172–3, 180
as long-term process 78–9 measures of 74–5, 77–9, 84, 85 relationship with financial performance 73 Product Innovation Charter (PIC) 52–3 product innovation management 8–9 product innovativeness
definition 73–4
and its adoption 59
perceived
definition 61
hypotheses 62
impact on consumer intention 61, 65 from innovation perception 64
managerial implications 68
methodology 63
results and findings 65–7, 69
from usefulness and originality perspectives 58, 67 positive relation to short-term financial outcomes and firm value 49 product selection 54 Production potential 35
profitability (telecommunications) close relation to risk 79
as declining 72
expected positive effect of patents and trademarks 76 operating margins 81
patent applications 84–5
proxies for financial performance as measures of 79 ratios 73, 84
suggested positive effect of innovations 75
trademarks 87
prototype testing 55
purchase intention 59, 61–3, 64, 65, 66–7, 68–9 Quality Function Deployment (QFD) 55 radical innovation 4, 73–4, 76, 93–4, 95, 100, 110, 171, 175–6 rational strategy approach 6, 29–30 re-engineering see business process re-engineering (BPR) relational e-HRM domain 143–4, 154–8, 161 Ren, Zhengfei 3–4
requirements engineering
change from staged to iterative process 119–20 change from Waterfall to Agile 122–3 importance to IS development 115, 120
managerial implications 134
nature of 119
need for communication and reliability 132–3 significance of role 135–6
Robotics Process Automation (RPA) 101
RPV (Resources, Processes, Values) theory 32–3 salary, defining own see ‘Choose Your Own Salary’ project salespeople 53
SAs see systems analysts (SAs)
scope creep 52, 121, 131
Serum (project management practice) 118, 121, 130–132, 134, 136 search strategy, balanced 18, 23 Seven Muda (wastes) 34
shared values 35, 41
social contribution 30, 33, 40, 42–3 stage-gate process (SGP) 54
State Intellectual Property Office of China (SIPO) 7, 16–17, 24–5 strategic alignment 97
strategic diversification 22–3 strategic licensing 20–21 strategic management, BPM connection 97–8 strategic-transformational e-HRM domain 144, 159, 161, 162 strategy, written 52–3
strategy innovation management 6–8, 12–13
suppliers 53
systems analysts (SAs)
  change in functions 120–122, 123–5, 135–6 change in knowledge required 125–6 change in people competencies 127–9 change in skills required 126
  competencies 122–3, 127–30, 131–6
research findings 129–35
research framework 122–3
study conclusions 135–6
talent matching 40, 42
technological innovation findings 172–3, 176–7
human resources-related factors as determinant to 167
management innovations differing from 170
methodology 171–2, 180–181
relating HRM to 169, 176
technology importance of 3, 140
new Chinese 17, 21, 24
e-core HRM 153
firms’ need for 4
high prices of 102
and radical innovations 95
as primary wheel of organizations 140 search strategy 18, 23
technology drivers 7
technology licensing
innovation through 16–23
maintaining competitive advantage 23–4
research 24–5
telecommunications industry characteristics 72, 85–6 Huawei 3–4
innovation as paramount in 72
link between innovation and financial performance data analysis 83–4
data and descriptive statistics 79–83, 90–91
in literature 73, 75–7
limitations 86
managerial implications 85–6
relevant financial variables 75, 77–9
results, discussion and conclusions 84, 85–7 underexplored in literature in terms of 73
TIMWOOD framework 103
To-be business process 99, 106
Tobin’s q ratio 75, 77, 78
top-down outlook goal 38–9 Toyoda, Kiichiro 36, 41
Toyoda, Sakichi 36, 40
Toyoda Business Practice (TBP) 34
Toyota Motor Corporation
  Hybrid Prius development 37–42
  investment in people 42–3
  production system 27, 33–7, 41 transformed into mobility company 43 Toyoda Production System (TPS) 27, 33–7, 41
tracking 55–6
trademarks correlation coefficients 83
empirical research results 84 as innovativeness indicator 74–5, 77
as panel data variable 80
profitability
  actual effect on 85, 87
  effect on financial performance proxies 84, 87 expected effect on 73–6 research foundation summary 77 study limitations 86
varying numbers, year by year 81–2, 91
Uchimura, K. 28, 29
Uchiyamada 37, 38–9, 40–42
uncertainty, degree of 107 UPS Lithuania background 190
context for innovation 191
discussion questions 193
earned money and taxes data 195
establishment 190
implementation of innovation 191–2 inspiration for project 191
letter to employees 194
no formal written values 190
results 192–3
service industry 191
success of project 193
support for foster home 190

goals 142
interviewee responses 151–4, 161, 166
methodology 144–5
relational process 143
research instrument 146
study premise 140–141

Wada 38–9
Waterfall model
  communication 133
  IS development process
    as no longer adequate for 135 traditional 10, 115
    move to Agile model 116–19 requirements engineering in 119–20
    research framework 122–3
    role of SA in 121–2, 130, 131
    sequential stage-based design approach 116
      success rate 116
    willingness to pay 59, 61–3, 64–5, 66–7, 68–9 zero-based thinking 40, 42

e-value addition 106
value creation
  critical element 13
  customer 96, 98, 100
  innovative e-HRM
    e-compensation 150, 157
    e-performance management 149, 158
    e-recruitment and selection 148, 155
    e-training and development 148, 155–6

Research into the performance of e-HRM systems: An empirical study Vida Škudienė, Jason Li-Ying and Fabian Bernhard - 9781789909814
Downloaded from Elgar Online at 12/13/2021 04:02:53AM via free access