

---

Contributors

---

Todd J. Arnold is an associate professor of marketing and PhD Program Coordinator at Oklahoma State University. Dr Arnold's research focuses upon retailing and personal selling, as well as sales management. His work has appeared in top publications, including the Journal of Consumer Research, Journal of Applied Psychology, Journal of the Academy of Marketing Science, Journal of Retailing, Journal of Service Research, Journal of Personal Selling and Sales Management, Journal of Management, Journal of Marketing Theory and Practice, Journal of Retailing and Consumer Services and Journal of Business Psychology. He has been awarded the Richard W. Poole Research Excellence Award at Oklahoma State in 2007, 2008, 2009 and 2010. In addition, Dr Arnold is a member of the editorial review board for both the Journal of Retailing and the Journal of Marketing Theory and Practice. He also serves as an ad hoc reviewer for the Journal of Marketing and several other international publications. He received his PhD in marketing from the University of Missouri, Columbia.

Gregory S. Carpenter is the James Farley/Booz Allen Hamilton Professor of Marketing Strategy at the Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University. Dr Carpenter's research on competitive marketing strategy has appeared in leading academic journals in addition to being featured by Harvard Business Review, Financial Times (London) and National Public Radio. The American Marketing Association has recognized his contributions to marketing with the William F. O'Dell Award, the Paul E. Green Award, the Donald R. Lehmann Award and the Marketing Science Institute/H. Paul Root Award, and his research has been cited in cases before the US Supreme Court. He received Kellogg's Sidney J. Levy Teaching Award and the Kellogg Managers' Program voted him Outstanding Professor of the Year. He is one of a handful of Kellogg faculty to be recognized by Businessweek as an outstanding faculty in its Guide to the Best Business School. He has advised many organizations on marketing strategy, including Advanced Micro Devices, Bacardi, Cadbury-Schweppes, Carnival Corporation, Coca-Cola, Cunard Lines, Diageo, Dow Chemical, Federal Reserve Bank, General Electric, Harley-Davidson, International Paper, Microsoft, Motorola, Procter & Gamble, Sara Lee, Unilever and Visa. He received his PhD degree from Columbia University.

Deepa Chandrasekaran is an assistant professor of marketing at Lehigh University. Her primary research expertise lies in the areas of new product growth, innovation management and global marketing strategies. Her research articles have been published in journals such as Marketing Science and Review of Marketing Research. She has also published book chapters in the Wiley International Encyclopedia of Marketing and the Marketing Science Institute's Relevant Knowledge Series. Dr Chandrasekaran has won several research awards, including the competitive Christian and Mary Lindback Foundation's Minority Junior Faculty award, and the Best Paper award at the Product Development and Management Association (PDMA) Research Forum. She has presented her work at major international conferences, including the Marketing Science conference, Winter

Marketing Educators' Conference, Summer Marketing Educators' Conference, PDMA research forum and the Marketing Dynamics conference. Her teaching interests include principles of marketing, global marketing, marketing strategy and product management. She received her PhD from the University of Southern California.

John A. Czepiel is a professor of marketing and Stern Teaching Excellence Fellow at the Leonard N. Stern School of Business at New York University. He has been named the Best Professor in Stern's top-ranked Executive MBA Program in 1992, 1996, 2000 and 2001. His prowess at teaching strategy led to his being cited in Businessweek's Guide to the Best Business Schools as one of Stern's Outstanding Faculty. He received his MS and PhD degrees from Northwestern University's Kellogg School in 1972. His research has been published in such journals as the Journal of Marketing, Journal of Marketing Research, Journal of Retailing, Journal of the Academy of Management, California Management Review, Journal of Business Research, and in books and monographs. Dr Czepiel has extensive experience as a consultant and educator in industry.

Marnik G. Dekimpe is a research professor of marketing at Tilburg University, The Netherlands and Professor of Marketing at the Catholic University Leuven, Belgium. His work has been published in Marketing Science, Management Science, Journal of Marketing Research, Journal of Marketing, International Journal of Research in Marketing and Journal of Econometrics, among others. He has won best-paper awards from Marketing Science (1995, 2001), Journal of Marketing Research (1999), International Journal of Research in Marketing (1997, 2001, 2002) and Technological Forecasting and Social Change (2000). As of October 2009, he is the new editor of the International Journal of Research in Marketing, the leading European marketing journal. He also serves on the editorial boards of the Journal of Marketing Research, Marketing Science, Journal of Marketing, Journal of the Academy of Marketing Science, Review of Marketing Science, Journal of Interactive Marketing and Marketing Letters. His current research interests deal with the drivers of private label success, the internationalization of retail firms, the impact of product crises and the measurement of long-run marketing effects. He received his PhD in marketing from the University of California, Los Angeles.

Carly Frennea is a doctoral student in marketing at the Jones Graduate School of Business at Rice University. She received her MBA with a concentration in marketing from the Jones School in 2009 and holds a BS in public relations with a minor in business from the University of Texas at Austin. Her current research interest is in consumer behavior.

Gary F. Gebhardt is visiting Professor of Marketing at HEC, Montreal. Dr Gebhardt's research interests include marketing strategy and implementation, managerial decision making, organizational change, marketing processes within organizations, and research methods. His research has appeared in the Journal of Marketing and Psychology & Marketing. For his research, he has won the 2006 MSI/H. Paul Root Award from the Journal of Marketing Editorial Review Board based on his significant contribution to the advancement of marketing practice and the 2008 Robert D. Buzzell Marketing Science Institute Best Paper Award. He received his PhD from the Kellogg School of Management, Northwestern University.

Katrijn Gielens is an internationally recognized expert in the areas of international retailing and product innovation. The International Journal of Research in Marketing (IJRM), Journal of Marketing and Journal of Consumer Research have published her research. She has twice won the prestigious IJRM Best Article Award. Dr Gielens teaches courses in international retail management and econometric and market response models. Before she joined UNC Kenan-Flagler, she served on the faculty of the RSM Erasmus University, one of UNC Kenan-Flagler's OneMBA partners, and Tilburg University. She serves on the strategy team of AiMark, a global center studying key marketing strategy issues, which brings together academics around the world, two of the top four market research agencies and brand manufacturers. She received her PhD in marketing from Catholic University Leuven.

Rajdeep Grewal is the Irving & Irene Bard Professor of Marketing at the Smeal College of Business at the Pennsylvania State University. He is also the Associate Research Director of the Institute for the Study of Business Markets. His research focuses on empirically modeling strategic marketing issues and has appeared in prestigious journals such as the Journal of Marketing, Journal of Marketing Research, Marketing Science, Management Science, Journal of Consumer Psychology, MIS Quarterly and Strategic Management Journal, among others. Currently he serves or has served on the editorial boards for the Journal of Marketing, Marketing Science, International Journal of Research in Marketing, Journal of the Academy of Marketing Science and Decision Sciences. He has received several awards for his research, including a doctoral dissertation award from the Procter & Gamble Market Innovation Research Fund. For his research, he has received the Honorable Mention Award at the prestigious MSI/JM competition, the year 2003 Young Contributor Award from the Society of Consumer Psychology, and the 2006 Paul E. Green Award and 2010 O'Dell Award for best article published in the Journal of Marketing Research in 2005. He received his PhD from the University of Cincinnati.

Dominique M. Hanssens is the Bud Knapp Professor of Marketing at the UCLA Anderson Graduate School of Management, where he has been on the faculty since 1977. He has served as the school's faculty chair, associate dean and marketing area chair. From 2005 to 2007 he served as executive director of the Marketing Science Institute in Cambridge, Massachusetts. His research focuses on strategic marketing problems. Dr Hanssens serves or has served as an area editor for Marketing Science and an associate editor for Management Science and the Journal of Marketing Research. His papers have appeared in the leading academic and professional journals in marketing, economics and statistics. Five of these articles have won best-paper awards. Dr Hanssens won distinguished teaching awards in the UCLA MBA and Executive MBA programs. In 2003 he was awarded the UCLA Anderson School's Neidorf "decade" teaching award, in 2007 he was the recipient of the Churchill Lifetime Achievement Award of the American Marketing Association, and in 2010 he was elected a Fellow of the INFORMS Society for Marketing Science. He received his PhD in marketing from Purdue University.

Kristiaan Helsen is an associate professor at the Hong Kong University of Science & Technology. His research interests include competitive marketing, hazard rate modeling, international marketing, new products modeling, product harm crises and empirical modeling. He serves on the editorial board for the International Journal of Research in Marketing. Some of his research has appeared in the Journal of Marketing, International Journal of Research in Marketing, Marketing Science, Journal of Retailing, Journal of Marketing Research and Marketing Letters. Dr Helsen received his PhD in Marketing from the University of Pennsylvania.

Donna L. Hoffman is the Chancellor's Chair and Professor of Marketing at the A. Gary Anderson Graduate School of Management at UC Riverside. She has published widely in the top academic journals and has been awarded the Sheth Foundation/Journal of Marketing Award for long-term contributions to the discipline of marketing, the Stellner Distinguished Scholar Award from the University of Illinois, and the William O'Dell/Journal of Marketing Research Award for long-term research impact. She also co-directs the UCR Sloan Center for Internet Retailing. She is also the co-founder of eLab, an internationally recognized, award-winning research lab for fielding online experiments and surveys regarding the Internet. The New York Times calls this pioneering effort "one of the premiere research centers in the world for the study of electronic commerce," and The Wall Street Journal recognizes the effort as the "electronic commerce pioneer among business schools." She was named a Distinguished Graduate Alumnus of UNC in 2002. Dr Hoffman has a PhD from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill.

Douglas B. Holt is President of the Cultural Strategy Group, a brand and innovation consultancy. He formerly held the chair in marketing at Oxford and also taught at Harvard Business School. In his academic research Holt works from a consumer culture theory perspective to examine sociological questions concerning social class, gender and brands. He has published widely on these issues in the Journal of Consumer Research and the Journal of Consumer Culture. He is former editor of the Journal of Consumer Culture and co-edited The Consumer Society Reader (with Juliet Schor). In his management research, Holt pioneered a cultural approach to branding and innovation in his books How Brands Become Icons: The Principles of Cultural Branding (Harvard Business School Press, 2004) and Cultural Strategy: Using Innovative Ideologies to Build Breakthrough Brands (Oxford University Press, 2010). Holt is now a Fellow at Colorado State University's Center for Fair and Alternative Trade, where he works on branding environmental issues including climate change. He earned a PhD from Northwestern's Kellogg School.

Katherine E. Jocz is a research associate at Harvard Business School. Previously, she was senior director of networks and relationships and thought leader at MarketSpace, a Monitor Group company. Formerly, she was vice president of research operations at the Marketing Science Institute. She has served on the editorial review board of the Journal of Marketing, the board of directors of the Association for Consumer Research, committees for the annual Marketing and Public Policy conference, and the US Census Bureau Advisory Committee. Her publications include articles and books on marketing management and the discipline of marketing; the most recent is Greater Good: How Good Marketing Makes for Better Democracy (with John Quelch).

Kevin Lane Keller is the E.B. Osborn Professor of Marketing at the Tuck School of Business at Dartmouth College. Professor Keller has degrees from Cornell, Carnegie-Mellon and Duke universities. At Dartmouth, he teaches MBA courses on marketing management and strategic brand management, and lectures in executive programs on that topic. Professor Keller's general area of expertise lies in marketing strategy and planning. His specific research interest is in how understanding theories and concepts related to consumer behavior can improve marketing strategies. His research has been published in three of the major marketing journals: Journal of Marketing, Journal of Marketing Research and Journal of Consumer Research. He also has served on the editorial review boards of those journals. With over 60 published papers, his research has been widely cited and has received numerous awards. He has served as a consultant and advisor to marketers for some of the world's most successful brands. He has also served as an academic trustee for the Marketing Science Institute. His textbook, Strategic Brand Management, has been adopted at top business schools and leading firms around the world and has been heralded as the "bible of branding."

Roger A. Kerin is the Harold C. Simmons Distinguished Professor of Marketing at the Cox Business School at Southern Methodist University. Dr Kerin currently serves on the editorial boards of the Journal of Retailing and the Journal of Business & Industrial Marketing, and has served on the Journal of Marketing, Journal of Marketing Research, Journal of the Academy of Marketing Science, Journal of Strategic Marketing and Marketing Letters boards. During 1988–90, he served as the editor for the Journal of Marketing. He has consulted for numerous companies, such as Alcon Laboratories, Wal-Mart, Frito-Lay, Honeywell, Marion Laboratories and Club Corporation of America in the areas of brand management, market strategy, product management and strategic marketing. He received his PhD from the University of Minnesota, Minneapolis.

V. Kumar, or VK as he is more popularly known in academic and professional circles, is the Richard and Susan Lenny Distinguished Chair Professor in Marketing, the Executive Director of the Center for Excellence in Brand and Customer Management, and the Director of the PhD Program in Marketing at the J. Mack Robinson School of Business, Georgia State University. Dr V. Kumar's pioneering research on customer loyalty and customer lifetime value has received attention worldwide. His research has been widely published in premier journals such as the Journal of Marketing, Harvard Business Review, Sloan Management Review, Journal of Marketing Research, Marketing Science and Operations Research, to name a few. He was recently ranked as one of the top five scholars in marketing worldwide. VK also serves as a consultant for leading Fortune 500 corporations. Dr V. Kumar's latest book is titled Managing Customers For Profit (January 2008). Dr Kumar recently received two lifetime achievement awards. He was a finalist for 2006 & 2007 ISMS Practice Prize Competition and has been awarded twice the H. Paul Root Award by AMA and MSI.

Marvin B. Lieberman is a professor in the policy area at UCLA Anderson School of Management. From 1982 to 1989, he was Assistant Professor of Business Policy in the Graduate School of Business at Stanford University. Professor Lieberman's current research focuses on issues relating to market entry, and productivity and performance comparisons of US and foreign manufacturing firms. His broader teaching and research interests are in the areas of competitive strategy, industrial economics and operations management. He is the author of numerous articles in professional journals, on topics such as cost reduction and productivity improvement, market entry and exit, and strategic investment. His paper on "First-mover advantages" (co-authored with David Montgomery) was awarded the 1996 Best Paper Prize by the Strategic Management Society. He received his PhD degree in Business Economics from Harvard University.

Vikas Mittal is the J. Hugh Liedtke Professor of Marketing at the Jones Graduate School of Business at Rice University. Before joining Katz, he was on the faculty at Kellogg Graduate School at Northwestern University. Dr Mittal's publications appear in leading marketing journals such as the Journal of Consumer Research, Journal of Marketing, Journal of Marketing Research and Marketing Science. He currently serves on the editorial boards of the Journal of Consumer Research, Journal of Marketing, Journal of Marketing Research, Journal of Service Research, Journal of the Academy of Marketing Science, Journal of Interactive Marketing and Journal of Retailing. In 2006 Professor Mittal was awarded the William F. O'Dell Award for making the most significant long-term contribution to the theory, methodology and practice of marketing. In 2001 his research was recognized with the FedEx Excellence in Service Research award at the Journal of Service Research. At Katz, he won the excellence in teaching award at the Katz Graduate School three years running, and was voted the best professor by executives in the 2003 IEMBA program in Brazil. Dr Mittal holds a PhD in Management from Temple University.

David B. Montgomery is the Kresge Professor of Marketing – Emeritus, Graduate School of Business, Stanford University and Dean – Emeritus at Singapore Management University. He has published over 100 articles and ten books and special journal issues relating to marketing science, marketing strategy, and global marketing and management. He is an INFORMS Fellow (2009) and is an Inaugural Fellow of the INFORMS Society for Marketing Science (2008) and was awarded the 2002 AMA Career Contributions to Marketing Strategy award. He has served on the editorial boards of seven leading marketing/strategy/management science journals. His interests include the analysis of competitor response and decision making, global strategic alliances, globalization of marketing, global account management, modeling business-to-business buyer behavior, empirical analysis of the manufacturing/marketing interface, methods and applications of meta-analysis.

Thomas P. Novak is the Albert O. Steffey Professor of Marketing and Co-Director of the Sloan Center for Internet Retailing at the University of California, Riverside. Novak's research has focused exclusively on Internet and Web-based commerce. His current research areas include measuring the online consumer experience, Internet marketing, societal impact of the Internet and social cognition. An internationally recognized academic researcher in Web-based commerce, Novak has published extensively on the topic in academic journals in a range of scholarly disciplines, including SCIENCE, Marketing Science, Journal of Marketing, Communications of the ACM, the Information Society and Harvard Business Review. He has also been a contributing writer to both Wired and HotWired. Novak received his PhD in quantitative psychology with a formal minor in Biostatistics from the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill.

Robert W. Palmatier is an associate professor of marketing, John C. Narver Endowed Professor at the Foster School of Business at the University of Washington. His research interests include relationship marketing theory and strategy, customers' relationships in the business-to-business and retail markets and the role of customer relationships in services and innovation. His research has been published in the Journal of Marketing,

Journal of Marketing Research, Journal of Consumer Psychology and Marketing Science. He has won research awards including the American Marketing Association award for the Best Services Article for “Effect of service transition strategies on firm value,” and the Harold H. Maynard Award for a significant contribution to marketing theory and thought in the Journal of Marketing (2008). Dr Palmatier has consulted for Microsoft, Telstra, Emerson, Littelfuse, Fifth Third Bank and Cincom. He received his PhD from the University of Missouri, Columbia.

John A. Quelch is a Distinguished Professor of International Management, Vice President and Dean at CEIBS. He was appointed as La Caixa Visiting Professor of International Management at CEIBS in 2009 and joined CEIBS officially in February 2011. Previously, he was Senior Associate Dean and Lincoln Filene Professor of Business Administration at Harvard Business School. Professor Quelch’s research focus is on global marketing and branding in emerging as well as developed markets. Professor Quelch is the author, co-author or editor of 25 books, including Greater Good: How Good Marketing Makes for Better Democracy (2008), Business Solutions for the Global Poor: Creating Social and Economic Value (2007), The New Global Brands (2006), Global Marketing Management (5th edition, 2006), The Global Market (2005), Cases in Advertising and Promotion Management (4th edition, 1996) and The Marketing Challenge of Europe 1992 (2nd edition, 1991). He has published 17 articles on marketing strategy issues in Harvard Business Review, and many more in leading practitioner and academic journals. Professor Quelch has served as an independent director of 12 publicly listed companies in the USA and UK. He received his DBA from Harvard University.

Bharath Rajan is research manager for the Center for Excellence in Brand and Customer Management at the J. Mack Robinson College of Business. He holds undergraduate and graduate degrees in Business and Economics. Bharath has published in business and marketing journals such as Management Accounting Quarterly, Strategic Finance and Marketing Intelligence Review. His current research interests include customer relationship management, group-buying behavior, international marketing research and international trade.

Jagmohan S. Raju is the Joseph J. Aresty Professor and Director of the Wharton–Indian School of Business Program. Professor Raju is internationally known for his research on pricing strategies, coupon programs, managing private labels and sales force compensation. He consults extensively with companies around the world, including Wyeth Pharmaceuticals, Medtronic, Warner Home Video, and Johnson & Johnson on designing pricing strategies and developing launch plans for new products. A prolific scholar, Professor Raju’s research has been published in top-tier academic journals including Management Science, Journal of Retailing and Marketing Science. He also serves as the marketing editor of Management Science and is the President of the INFORMS Society for Marketing Science, a professional organization whose members include marketing academics and business executives who apply quantitative methods to solve marketing problems. He has received numerous teaching and research awards. He received his PhD from Stanford University.

Ram C. Rao is the Founders’ Professor and Professor of Marketing at the University of Texas at Dallas. Dr Rao’s research investigates how firms compete and how they should formulate competitive marketing strategies with emphasis on pricing. He has published numerous papers in leading marketing journals, and his research has received support from the National Science Foundation as well as Nortel Networks. He serves on the editorial boards of the Journal of Marketing Research and Marketing Science, and is past area editor of Marketing Science and associate editor for the Journal of Business Economics and Statistics. He is currently the co-editor of the Web-based marketing journal Review of Marketing Science (ROMS) and serves on the advisory boards of Quantitative Marketing and Economics and Marketing Research Network. Dr Rao received his PhD from Carnegie-Mellon University.

Brian T. Ratchford is the Charles and Nancy Davidson Professor of Marketing, University of Texas at Dallas. From 1999 to 2006 he was Pepsico Chair in Consumer Research, University of Maryland. From 1971 to 1999 he held various academic positions at State University of New York at Buffalo. His research interests are in economics applied to the study of consumer behavior, information economics, marketing productivity, marketing research and electronic commerce. He has published over 70 articles in marketing and related fields, including articles in the Marketing Science, Management Science, Journal of Consumer Research and Journal of Marketing Research. He was editor of Marketing Science from 1998 to 2002, is currently an associate editor of the Journal of Consumer Research, and is currently on the editorial review boards of the Journal of Marketing Research, Journal of Marketing, Journal of Retailing, Journal of Interactive Marketing and Journal of Service Research. He received his PhD degree from the University of Rochester.

John H. Roberts is a professor of marketing at the London Business School with a joint appointment with the School of Management, Marketing and International Business at the Australian National University. His research expertise is in marketing strategy, marketing models and their adoption in industry, new product marketing and brand equity, high-technology marketing and methods to measure its effect in the marketplace. He has published on this area in the Harvard Business Review, Marketing Science and Journal of Marketing Research. He also has extensive consulting and senior management experience in calibrating marketing strategies. Dr Roberts has served on the editorial board for Marketing Science, Journal of Marketing Research, International Journal of Research in Marketing, Journal of Forecasting, Academic Trustee and Marketing Sciences Institute. He received his PhD from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Derek D. Rucker holds the Richard M. Clewett Professorship in Marketing at Kellogg School of Management at Northwestern University. His primary research focuses on study attitudes, persuasion and consumer behavior. His work has appeared in numerous leading journals in psychology and marketing, such as the Journal of Personality and Social Psychology, Journal of Consumer Research, Journal of Marketing Research and Journal of Consumer Psychology. In addition, his research has been covered in major media outlets such as The New York Times, Time Magazine and ABC News. In recognition of his passion for teaching, Dr Rucker was nominated as a finalist for the L.G. Lavengood Outstanding Professor of the Year Award. In addition to his work in the classroom, Dr Rucker is a co-instructor of the annual Kellogg Advertising Superbowl Review. The review is in the spirit of Kellogg's focus on experiential learning and is designed to cultivate basic principles learned in the classroom to critically evaluate advertising in a real-world and high stakes environment.

Gaurav Sabnis is Visiting Associate Professor of Marketing at the Fordham School of Business, Fordham University. His PhD is from Penn State University. His research focuses empirical modeling of marketing strategy issues related to competition, user-generated content and sales management. Before entering academia, he worked as a sales manager for IBM, India.

Raj Sethuraman is an associate professor of marketing and Department Chair at the Cox Business School at Southern Methodist University. Dr Sethuraman's research interests include the tradeoff between price promotion and advertising, competition between national brands and stores brands, and measuring brand equity. His research has appeared in Marketing Science, Journal of Retailing, Journal of Business Research and Journal of Marketing Research. He has served on the editorial boards of the Journal of Retailing, Marketing Science, Review of Marketing Science and Journal of Modeling in Management. He has consulted on the following topics: strategic marketing, price and advertising strategies, national brand versus store brand competition, marketing generalization and statistical analysis, and some of his consulting engagements include Samsung, KPMG, QUEST and the Center for Non-Profit Management. He received his PhD from Northwestern University.

Venkatesh (Venky) Shankar is Professor and Coleman Chair in Marketing and Marketing PhD Program Director, Mays Business School, Texas A&M University. He has a PhD from Kellogg Graduate School of Management, Northwestern University. His expertise areas include marketing strategy, innovation, e-business, international marketing, and retailing. His research has been published in Journal of Marketing Research, Marketing Science, Management Science, Strategic Management Journal, Journal of Marketing, Harvard Business Review and Sloan Management Review. Dr Shankar is the author of Shopper Marketing and co-editor of the Handbook of Marketing Strategy. He is an Academic Trustee of the Marketing Science Institute and winner of the Clarke Award for the Outstanding Direct Marketing Educator, the Green Award for the Best Article in Journal of Marketing Research, the Lehmann Award for the Best Dissertation-based Article in an AMA journal, and the Sheth Award for the Best Paper in Journal of Academy of Marketing Science. He is Editor Emeritus of the Journal of Interactive Marketing, ex-associate editor of Management Science and is on the editorial boards of Journal of Marketing, Journal of Marketing Research, Marketing Science, International Journal of Research in Marketing, Journal of Academy of Marketing Science, and Journal of Retailing. The Shankar-Spiegel Award from the Direct Marketing Educational Foundation is named in his honor. He is ex-President of the Marketing Strategy SIG, AMA and serves on the Chief Marketing Officers (CMO) council and Business-to-Business (B2B) Leadership Board. He is three-time winner of the Krowe Award for Outstanding Teaching and has been a visiting faculty member at MIT, INSEAD, Singapore Management University, SDA Bocconi, Nanyang Technology University, Indian School of Business, and Chinese European International Business School. He has been a keynote speaker in several conferences and has delivered over 150 presentations in different countries, including Australia, Belgium, China, Finland, France, Germany,

Hong Kong, India, Italy, Mexico, Netherlands, Singapore, the UK, and the USA. His work has generated about 4 000 citations and 10 of his articles have won best paper/honorable mention/finalist awards. He has appeared as an international business expert on CNN and C-SPAN and has served as an expert witness in business cases. He has had working/consulting/executive education experience with companies such as ARINC, Allstate Insurance, Cap Gemini Ernst & Young, Colgate-Palmolive, Frito-Lay, Giant Food, Glaxo SmithKline, Halliburton, Hewlett Packard, Honeywell, HSBC, IBM, Intel, International Paper, Lockheed Martin, Lucent Technologies, Marriott International, Medtronic, Northrop Grumman, PepsiCo, Philips, Sirius, United Nations Foundation, Vodafone, Volvo Group, and Wegmans.

Gerard Tellis is a professor of marketing, Neely Chair of American Enterprise and Director of the Center for Global Innovation at the USC Marshall School of Business. He has been Visiting Chair of Marketing, Strategy and Innovation at the Judge Business School, Cambridge University, UK, and Distinguished Visitor, Erasmus University, Rotterdam. Dr Tellis specializes in the areas of innovation, global strategy, market entry, new product growth, advertising, promotion and pricing. He has published over 100 articles and four books, which have won 15 awards, including five of the most prestigious awards in the field of marketing: the Frank M. Bass, William F. Odell, Harold D. Maynard (twice), AMA–Berry and AMA Mahajan award for lifetime contributions to marketing strategy. He is an associate editor for the Journal of Marketing Research and has been on the editorial review boards of the Journal of Marketing Research, Journal of Marketing and Marketing Science for several years. He received his PhD from the University of Michigan.

Rajan Varadarajan is a Distinguished Professor of Marketing and holder of the Ford Chair in Marketing and E-Commerce in the Mays Business School at Texas A&M University. His primary teaching and research interests are in the area of marketing strategy. He is author of over 60 refereed journal articles on such topics as market strategy, marketing strategy, competitive advantage, corporate diversification and divestitures, e-commerce, global competitive strategy, innovation, market pioneering advantage, multi-market competition, strategic alliances, strategy typologies and taxonomies, and interdependencies between corporate, business and marketing strategy. His research has been published in such journals as the Journal of Marketing, Journal of the Academy of Marketing Science, Academy of Management Journal, Strategic Management Journal and Management Science. He currently serves on the editorial review boards of a number of journals, including the Journal of Marketing, Journal of Marketing Research, Journal of the Academy of Marketing Science, Journal of Interactive Marketing, Journal of Strategic Marketing and Journal of Marketing Management. Dr Varadarajan is a recipient of a number of honors and awards including the American Marketing Association Paul D. Converse Award for contributions to the field of marketing (2008) and the Journal of Marketing Harold H. Maynard Best Paper Award (2001). He received his PhD from the University of Massachusetts.

Peter C. Verhoef is a professor of marketing at the University of Groningen, The Netherlands. His research interests concern customer management, customer loyalty, multi-channel issues, category management and consumer well-being. He has extensively published on these topics and worked with multiple co-authors across the globe. His publications have appeared in several journals, including the Journal of Marketing, Journal of Marketing Research, Marketing Science, Marketing Letters, Journal of Consumer Psychology, Journal of the Academy of Marketing Science and Journal of Retailing. His work has been awarded with the Donald R. Lehmann Award for the best dissertation-based article in the Journal of Marketing and Journal of Marketing Research in 2003 and the Harold M. Maynard Award for the best article published in the Journal of Marketing in 2009. He is currently an editorial board member of the Journal of Marketing, Marketing Science, Journal of Retailing, Journal of Service Research and Journal of Interactive Marketing. He functions as area editor for the International Journal of Research in Marketing. Dr Verhoef is the founder and director of the Customer Insights Center University of Groningen, which now has more than 20 member companies. He obtained his PhD from Erasmus University Rotterdam, The Netherlands.

Russell S. Winer is the William H. Joyce Professor of Marketing and Chair at New York University, Stern. His research interests include customer relationship management, consumer choice models, information technology in marketing and the psychological aspects of price. Dr Winer has written three books, Marketing Management, Analysis for Marketing Planning and Product Management, and a research monograph, Pricing, and has authored over 60 papers in marketing on a variety of topics including consumer choice, marketing research methodology, marketing planning, advertising and pricing. He has served two terms as the editor of the Journal of Marketing Research, he is the past co-editor of the Journal of Interactive Marketing and is currently an associate editor of the International Journal of Research in Marketing. Dr Winer is the co-editor of the Review of Marketing Science, and he is on the editorial boards of the Journal of Marketing, Journal of Marketing Research and Marketing Science. He received his PhD from Carnegie-Mellon University.