
Acknowledgments

A Handbook of this nature is not possible without the assistance of several people. We will be remiss if we do not acknowledge their assistance. First, a big “thank you” to all the authors of the chapters for their thoughtful contributions and patience during the publication process. Second, our sincere thanks to Faye Palmer of Kellogg Graduate School of Management, Northwestern University for her unwavering commitment to corresponding and following up with the authors. Finally, our heartfelt appreciation to Nicole Hanson, marketing doctoral student, Mays Business School, Texas A&M University for her diligent proofreading of a few chapters.
